INDIAN TRIAL NEARS CLOSE AT BUFFALO

Lila Refuses To Testify and Defense Attacks State Evidence.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31.—(AP)—A white man's jury was ready tonight to decide the authorship of an Indian legend concerning a "white witch" who cast a curse upon the people of the Cattaraugus reservation and who died because one of those people believed that legend.

Should this jury, after it has listened to brief summations tomorrow, decide the 35-year-old Indian, Lila Jimerson, conceived this story, she will stand convicted as an accomplice in the murder of Clothilde Marchand, little French woman, who, the state charges, died at the hands of witch-harassed old Nancy Bowen. She refused to testify in her own behalf.

If this council of the whites, these 12 men of Erie county, believe Lila Jimerson wrote letters over a name of a person who never existed, telling old Nancy the wife of Henri Marchand, Buffalo sculptor, was a witch, the younger Indian woman, in the eyes of the law, will be equally guilty with the old woman the state says actually beat down and chloroformed Mrs. Marchand.

The defense directed its heaviest fire on the soundness of the prosecution's charge that it was Lila's long brown fingers that penned letters signed "Mrs. Dooley," which influenced the superstitious mind of old Nancy against the witch, identified in the letters as "Clothilde Brown."

"Lila's attorneys today placed on the stand Percy W. Darby, of Buffalo, to deny in the capacity of an expert in chirography, that any similarity existed between letters Lila had written Henri Marchand and the communications to old Nancy over the name of 'Mrs. Dooley.'"

The character of Lila was presented in contradictory lights today. While she sat, impassively chewing gum, she heard her father, Anson Jimerson, admit to the district attorney he had told him that Lila had "gone out" with a white man named Wright before her affair with Marchand. She also heard the Rev. Benjamin S. Farrell declare she was a member of the Church of Christ on the reservation and that she gave valuable service as organist and secretary.

The last witness for the defense was Henri Marchand. He was recalled by defense counsel after he already had testified for the state. It was Lila's ambition to have the French artist for her husband, the state told the jury, that prompted her to seek the death of Marchand's wife. The fire of this ambition had been fed by an intimacy with the artist, the prosecutor told the jury, an intimacy which Marchand declared had its source only in the "professional necessity" of getting the reluctant woman to pose for his Indian museum figures.

Marchand left the stand white with anger after telling his inquisitor, John V. Maloney, of defense counsel, the jury, the judge and the packed courtroom that Maloney was "not qualified to question him." He had been questioned concerning domestic scenes between himself and his family, especially his wife. He denied, with heat and volubility, there ever had been such scenes. The questioning of the defense attorney also concerned alleged affairs with other women.

Counting Clock Will Be Checked By Census Takers

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—At one minute after midnight tonight, the first minute of April, the population of the United States will be 122,180,808 by the flashing electric census clock in the office of W. M. Steuart, who will direct the fifteenth decennial census to begin Wednesday.

That time, 12:01 a. m., is the moment of the census. Every minute will be as of then, and the actual enumeration of population will show how close the scientific clock came to correctness.

This is the first census in which the big clock, invented at the time of the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial Exposition, could be used to check with actual figures. The returns will show whether the census clock is fast or slow. All day long, month in, month out, the clicking of the clock has kept Director Steuart conscious.

He can step into his anteroom at any moment and see just what the population of the United States should be in keeping with the numerical laws which have been found to govern its growth.

The stork, the "grim reaper," the incoming ship for 13 immigrants and the outgoing ship for departing emigrants are pictured, on the face of the census clock. The dial is a map of the United States, criss-crossed with electric bulbs.

Net changes in population, as calculated by C. E. Batschelet, geographer for the bureau, are shown in light flashes as follows:

One birth every 13 seconds, one death every 23 seconds, one immigrant arrives every 1-1/2 minutes, one emigrant departs every 5-1/2 minutes.

A net increase of one occurs every 23 seconds. When the white light flashes the net increase of 1 in the country's population, an additional tally is clicked up on the numerical score board at the top of the clock.

Flashing through an open door its invitation to enter and observe, the census clock has attracted many visitors. Many have expressed curiosity as to the accuracy of such a fine accounting of the rate of increase.

EIGHT LOSE LIVES IN BOAT DISASTER

Freighter Rams Excursion
Boat in Columbia River
Channel.

ST. HELENS, Ore., March 31.—(AP)—The death toll of the collision between the freighter Davenport and the excursion barge Swan on the Columbia river early yesterday was tentatively fixed at eight tonight. Four bodies had been recovered, a fifth located and three others still were hidden in the gray river waters.

The freighter rammied the Swan, which was carrying 286 passengers on a pleasure trip. The barge was in tow of the tug Dix, which sank. In the sunken tug was the body of a boy, Richard Belland, Jr., 13, son of the owner of the Swan.

The known dead were Richard Belland, Jr., J. E. Larson, Mrs. G. E.

Lundy, Mrs. Nettie Hagedorn and Mrs. Stanley Stone. Hope had all but vanished that Lee Seigle, Fred Hoffman and C. G. Brown, missing, might have escaped a similar fate. Harbor patrolmen dragged the river bottoms in search of victims. The Davenport and the Swan collided as the barge was returning to Vancouver, Wash., from Longview, Wash., with 286 merry-makers aboard. The cause of the disaster will be sought by government officials.

"My lights were in order," Captain R. G. Belland, of the Swan, said. "My lookout was not in the wrong. We didn't see the Davenport until she was upon us, and then it was too late." Isaac Turpe, pilot in charge of the Davenport's down river voyage, said "the Swan didn't have ten lights. I saw a small light distance down the river and it was a fishing craft."

Seven convincing reasons why you will prefer CADILLAC and LA SALLE to anything else

1. You have undoubtedly observed that the driver of a Cadillac or La Salle—though his car has a superabundance of speed and power—does not have to resort to speeding to make time. Simplification of control in the operation of brakes, gear-shift and steering mechanism has resulted in a decidedly new measure of quick and easy handling that spells more miles per hour with greater safety.

2. The new silent "Synchro-Mesh" transmission, with which all Cadillacs and La Salles are equipped, is the ultimate simplification of gear-shifting. This exclusive patented feature literally transforms this phase of motor car performance. "Synchro-Mesh" operates quickly, quietly and clashlessly at any speed, under any conceivable driving conditions.

3. The new Cadillac-La Salle harmonized steering —the owner of a Cadillac or La Salle will tell you—is a revelation in easy steering, in maneuvering these cars through congested traffic, in parking, and in cross-country driving.

4. Greater safety is the significance of the safety-mechanical four-wheel brakes, with which all Cadillacs and La Salles are equipped. These brakes are: Unfailing, because you cannot overheat them; effortless in operation, because of fifteen sets of roller bearings; positive, because the patent brake shoes always give full surface action. Simply and quickly adjusted.

5. There is no quibbling about the protection of non-shattering glass in Cadillac and La Salle. It is Cadillac's conscientious conviction that you are entitled to it—without extra cost. The Security-Plate Glass that is standard equipment in all Cadillac-La Salle windows, doors and windshields is not ordinary laminated glass. It is the highest quality plate glass. No distorted vision, No fear of injury through flying glass fragments.

6. There is no question about the proved advantages of the powerful Cadillac-La Salle V-type Eights. In these cars eight-cylinder power plants reach their maximum effectiveness. And now in the Cadillac V-16 (sixteen cylinders), by reason of new engine principles, performance is carried to hitherto unreached heights—an indescribable responsiveness even at low speeds—a hushed smoothness—a kind of performance in every particular that no words can suggest and only personal experience can reveal.

7. When you inspect the luxurious Fisher and Fleetwood coachwork, and compare it with other body construction and appointment, you will quickly agree that ordinary practice appears disturbingly inadequate in comparison.

You are invited to take a Cadillac or La Salle trials car and put it to the most gruelling tests for confirmation of what every Cadillac or La Salle owner knows: That Cadillac and La Salle are, of all motor cars, the safest, the easiest to handle, and the simplest to control.

Sixteen-Cylinder Trials Cars Now Available

Only by riding in or driving the new Cadillac V-16 can you appreciate how extraordinarily it performs. A telephone message will bring a sixteen-cylinder Cadillac to your door.

Jews Plan Organization Of Hebrew Congregations

Harold Hirsch Is Named Chairman of Executive Committee in Charge of Movement.

Plans for organization of a southern branch of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations were set in motion at the final meeting of more than 100 representative rabbis and laymen in the southeast at the Biltmore hotel Monday. The object of the union is the extension of the influence of the organized synagogues to unorganized groups in hamlets, small towns and universities.

Harold Hirsch, well-known Atlanta lawyer, was named chairman of an executive committee which will meet with Jewish leaders in their respective states and report back to the committee at some date in the future when, it is expected, the southeastern organization will be perfected.

Other members of the committee named are: Leon Schwartz, of Mobile, Ala.; J. H. Hirsch, Jacksonville, Fla.; Martin Levy, Savannah; Lee Hart Jackson, Miss.; Leslie Weil, of Goldsboro, N. C.; and Lee Loventhal, Nashville, Tenn. Rabbi Gustav Falk, of Cincinnati, regional rabbi for the southeastern district of the U. A. H. C. is to serve as secretary of the executive committee.

The concluding day's session of the southeastern conference was featured by an address of Ludwig Vogelstein, chairman of the union's executive board, who talked on the "Union of American Hebrew Congregations."

"The Jews are the great miracle of history," Mr. Vogelstein said. "A people at no time of political importance, which suffered repeated defeats, which was driven into exile, persecuted, harassed, maltreated and cruelly mistreated by every nation with which it came into contact, has survived the conquerors of the world, and its powerful forces that have ever existed," he continued.

"Not only have we survived physically, but spiritually, too, as our religion has outlived the highest civilization of antiquity. The truth proclaimed by our ancestors have become the chief cornerstone of the present western civilization which governs our life on this planet."

"I wish to emphasize that our unique position imposes upon us certain obligations and duties toward our coreligionists and toward mankind in general, which we should not disregard and which we cannot ignore. There is a spark of holiness and religiosity in every one of us that sometimes breaks out into a mighty flame of enthusiasm. I hope this is one of the great occasions when our hearts and emotions are being stirred by the recollections of a glorious past and the messianic hope for a more glorious future."

Progress of Migrations. Mr. Vogelstein traced briefly the progress of Jewish migrations from the time after the destruction of the first and second Temples through to the coming of America, for freedom to worship God.

From fewer than 3,000 in 1776 the Jews in the United States increased to 50,000 in 1840, to about 230,000 in 1880 and to more than 4,500,000 in 1930, he pointed out.

But he reminded the delegates that as early as the middle 50's of the last century, the late Dr. Isaac Mayer Wise, founder of Reform Judaism in America, had sounded a warning that without a union and without a rabbinical college "there might be Jews in America 50 years from that day, but there would be no Judaism."

"For nearly two decades he kept up this propaganda in pulpit and press," Mr. Vogelstein continued. "The Jews of Cincinnati who adored him helped him realize his dreams."

Founded in 1873. He added that on a call by Moritz Loth, president of Congregation Bene Yeshurun of Cincinnati, the union was founded in 1873. The Union of American Hebrew Congregations was founded two years later, he said.

Mr. Vogelstein pointed out that the union has grown from 28 to 282 constituent congregations and the individual membership of those synagogues has risen from 1,865 to 60,270 in its 57 years. The college has graduated 321 rabbis in its 55 years.

About 25 years ago the union created the department of synagogue school extension, "to be credited largely to the vision and the insight of our most efficient secretary, Rabbi Zepin," Mr. Vogelstein said.

This department serves isolated Jews through regional rabbis, field representatives, and literature, publishes a monthly magazine for children, Young Israel, and supplements the work of congregations.

Mr. Vogelstein pointed out that the Union's National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods has 337 constituent branches and the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods has 117.

Financial Support Needed. "To maintain and carry on all these activities requires the devoted co-operation of our loyal staff and the unselfish assistance of many men and women all over the country, but it also requires liberal financial support," he said.

"We are sometimes discouraged by the lack of understanding of our urgent needs. Frequently local pride stands in the way of appreciation of our joint efforts. United as we are in spirit, in the uniformity of our religious services, we are too apt to forget that we owe these blessings to the existence of the union."

After inviting the delegates to attend the next annual council of the union, to begin January 18, 1931, at Philadelphia, he observed: "At these councils we see the grandchildren of the men who stood at the cradle of the union and we realize that the 'Zechus Ovos'—the merit of our ancestors—is the blessing of this generation."

"We have inherited this great edifice for the perpetuation of Judaism in America which the two previous generations built up laboriously. It is our sacred duty to maintain and extend it to satisfy the needs of the present and future generations."

Lauds Union. "There is nothing more helpful to us in our standing in our committees and in our contact with our fellow citizens of different faiths than the high standards of religious life as promoted by the union. There is no congregation so great and powerful that it can flourish without constant recourse to the facilities created by the union. Even our conservative and orthodox brethren benefit considerably by the work of our union. Whether they call for aid we are glad to promote any religious work in this country."

"The union takes no part in politics, either American or Jewish. Our stronghold is our religion, the faith for which our fathers suffered and died. We follow our tradition, adapting ourselves to the spirit of our times, recognizing the progress of science and philosophy by which our vista into the great unknown has been enlarged."

"You who have come together at this meeting have evidenced your deep interest in the cause of Judaism. I have given you merely a superficial picture of the origin of the union but I hope I have succeeded in convincing you of its importance for Jewish religious life in America."

Prayer for Success. "I pray for the success of your deliberations and trust that this gathering will work as a stimulus to religious life in the southern states."

"If you take up this work in the spirit of the founders of the union you will inscribe your names in the annals of American Jewish history and your generations will rise to bless you."

No higher tribute could be paid to the powers of Sargon than the simple, straightforward statement of thousands of men and women who have put it to the test. Its remarkable success in many cases apparently hopeless bears eloquent testimony to the effectiveness of this new and scientific formula. Only a few days ago, D. E. Jackson, 556 Federal Terrace, a guard at the Atlanta Federal Prison, a well known to many friends, related his experience with Sargon as follows:

"My position at the Federal Prison is one that requires a man to be in tip-top physical condition and mentally alert. I came through the winter in such a run-down and debilitated condition that I was really uneasy as to being able to stand up to the strain of my duties. I had taken a great deal of medicine and was not lacking in examination and treatment, but nothing appeared to build me up or make me feel any better. My entire system was evidently clogged up with poison. It took the strongest purgatives to get relief from constipation, and then it was only temporary. Food was always souring in my stomach and I would belch and burp undigested food. I'd often go for three or four nights hand running with only a few hours' sleep, on account of the condition of my nerves, and that kept me fagged out and tired all the time. Many mornings I would get up with my hands and feet stiff and swollen."

"A course of the Sargon treatment has changed all of that in less than a month. It has given my system a complete overhauling. I'm eating three good meals a day and haven't a particle of indigestion. My sleep is like it used to be when I was a boy. I start the day with plenty of energy and actually feel fresher now at the end of a day on duty than I did before at the start of the day. All of the swelling and soreness are gone from my hands and feet. My head is clear as a bell. My eyes and complexion have cleared up so much everybody notices it."

"Sargon Pills have no equal in the world, in my judgment. They have done more to overcome my constipation in a short time than the purgative medicines I took for years. They've cleansed me so thoroughly I feel just like a different man. It's a pleasure to endorse a medicine that will do as much for a man as Sargon did for me."

The Sargon Man is at Jacobs' Main Store, 48 North Broad St., Grant Bldg., where he is meeting the public daily and explaining the merits of this remarkable new medicine. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

ITCHING ENDS WHEN ZEMO TOUCHES SKIN

—thousands say. It's wonderful the way soothing, cooling Zemo brings relief to skin which itches and burns. Even in most severe cases, itching disappears almost as soon as Zemo touches the tender and inflamed surface. To draw out local infection and help to clear away unsightly blemishes, we know of nothing better than invisible Zemo. Always keep this family antiseptic on hand. Use it freely. It's safe as can be. 35c, 60c and $1.00. All dealers.—(adv.)

No "just as good" oil says lubrication expert

In every line of endeavor there is always a leader—and countless followers. The field of household lubrication is no exception. Unfortunately the general public doesn't always appreciate the difference between the real thing and the "just as good"—but household experts do.

They know an oil intended for general household lubrication should clean and protect as well as lubricate. 3-in-One Oil does these three things, because it is a scientific compound of three high-grade products—animal, mineral and vegetable oils. It is distinctly in a class by itself.

3-in-One costs more to make than ordinary oil, but less to use. If you want the best possible service from your sewing machine, vacuum cleaner, lawnmower, washer, electric fan and other household devices, insist on the old reliable 3-in-One Oil. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 50c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in red on every package.—(adv.)

WALSH FLAYS TILSON'S ADMINISTRATION BRIEF

$160,000,000 Tax Reduction Bill Titled "Routine" by Montanan.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Another democratic summary of the achievements of the first year of the Hoover administration was made tonight by Senator Walsh, of Montana, the acting leader, in reply to the statement yesterday by Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader.

Senator Walsh, in a statement through the democratic national committee, characterized the accomplishments enumerated by Tilson as "impressive rather than calling attention to the barrenness of the Hoover administration than as helping the president to regain the confidence of the country."

The Montanan said that the prevailing idea among the farmers was that the farm board's activities so far had helped grain speculators to make profits and left the farmer facing a prospect of a "lower price on grain for the coming crop than at almost any time in history."

Walsh styled the $160,000,000 tax reduction as almost a routine process in scaling down the revenues from the wartime height.

Good roads appropriations, he added, were a yearly product and have been ever since Woodrow Wilson started the system of federal co-operation.

The original authorizations for the federal building program, he continued, were made under President Coolidge, and he added that the appropriations were merely the routine of carrying out an act of congress passed "before he became president."

"The other big things cited by Mr. Tilson," he continued, "are the establishment of a radio commission, the passage of the rearmament bill, and the report of the Haitian commission. None of these appeals as a great achievement."

Rearmament should have been made years ago, he said, and added that the constitution was not obeyed until the delay "became a national scandal."

2 Held Without Bail In $100,000 Extortion

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—(AP)—Eddie Leonard, St. Louis gangster, and Bossie Negro, of Kansas City, were formally charged late today with the kidnapping and extortion of $100,000 from Michael H. Katz, wealthy drug company executive, here last March 18.

The charges were the first filed in the case, the last of a series of reported abductions of wealthy Kansas Cityans Leonard and Negro were denied bail and placed in the county jail after arraignment before Justice of the Peace Joseph J. Dougherty.

Leonard told police that he operated a used car firm in St. Louis. He was brought here from St. Louis last night. Negro, 33, told officers he was in Omaha at the time of the abduction.

Tilson Recovered. WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, who has been recuperating from a recent illness at the White House, returned to his duties at the capital today and informed his colleagues that he had "completely recovered."

Expedition Finds Royal Mummy In Egyptian Tomb

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—(AP)—A mummy which, with its decorations of amulets and jewelry lay undisturbed for 4,000 years, has been discovered by the University of Pennsylvania Museum Expedition at Mejdum, Egypt, Alan Rowe, field director, advised the museum authorities in a report made public Sunday.

Mr. Rowe said the mummy was that of a woman named Sat-Her-Em-Hat, who lived about 2,000 B. C.

"Around the neck of Sat-Her-Em-Hat," the report stated, "was hung a semi-circular pendant formed by several concentric rows of faience beads, alternately green and black. In addition to this, a string of large graded beads of polished amethyst was found as well as a string of exquisite miniature amulets cut in carnelian, jasper and lapis lazuli."

"The semi-circular end pieces of the pendant are of bluish-green faience, shaped and painted on the inner corner to represent hawk's heads. A sgrub found in the coffin bore the proper name 'Her-Em-Hat, the elder,' doubtless a relative of the deceased."

"As an evidence of the great care which the Egyptians took with their dead there was found underneath the mummy a pad of folded linen 70 feet long by 4 1/2 feet wide."

Mr. Rowe said the expedition was continuing its search for a burial chamber in the mastabah lying near the great pyramid of Seneferu, who lived about 2,900 B. C. The mastabah, which was found in the shape of a trapezoid, was used for the burial of members of the royal family and dependents of Seneferu.

"It is probable," Mr. Rowe pointed out, "that the mastabah was traditionally regarded as a monument of some generation as late as the new empire (1,500 B. C.)."

"We have not so far succeeded in learning the name of the presumably revered owner of this great mastabah, but all the available evidence seems to indicate that he was connected with the royal family. We know at present of one person at Mejdum who was venerated in later times, a magician Cheops (2,550 B. C.)."

"We can state without fear of contradiction that our excavations at Mejdum have proved to be far richer than we ever could have expected them to be for the first season and that there is every promise of more important finds being made there in the future."

House To Scan War Profit-Sharing Angle

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—The Snell resolution to create a commission to study the feasibility of equalizing burdens and to minimize the profits of war will be taken up tomorrow by the house.

Under the legislation the inquiry would be made by a special commission, composed of four senators, four representatives, the secretaries of war, navy, agriculture, commerce and labor, and five individuals from private life.

Their investigation also would be directed into the "policies to be pursued in event of war, so as to empower the president immediately to mobilize all the resources of the country."

The commission would be directed to report definite recommendations to the president for transmittal to congress not later than the first Monday in January, 1932.

No opposition has been manifested to the proposed study.

FLORIDA TO CONTINUE FRUIT FLY QUARANTINE

Governor Orders Fund To Maintain Ban on Shipments.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—An emergency withdrawal from the state treasury of $110,000 to retain quarantine lines in the Mediterranean fruit fly eradication work in Florida was ordered today by Governor Doyle E. Carlton and his cabinet. The cabinet's action was taken at a special joint meeting with the state plant board at which Dr. Wilmon Newell, the board's commissioner, warned that unless the state made immediately available sufficient funds to continue the work, quarantine lines would be abandoned over the state by tonight.

In a statement given out following an executive session of the cabinet and plant board lasting for about an hour, Governor Carlton said the state funds would be made available "at a great sacrifice."

Prospective abandonment of the quarantine lines was brought about through withdrawal of financial support on the part of the federal government, which also resulted in a reduction in the inspection field corps of from about 750 to 55, Newell told the board.

The governor's statement follows: "At great sacrifice the board is making available $110,000 to bridge over this emergency situation with the confidence that the federal appropriation will be available for May 1."

"This money is to be expended to maintain the present quarantine lines, this representing the immediate emergency."

"It is probable that the plant board will ask the men on duty to accept reduced pay to help meet the emergency, especially in view of the fact that the state is faced with a possible deficiency in its ordinary operating expenditures for the remainder of this year."

The "board" referred to in the governor's statement is the board of commissioners of state institutions, composed of himself and all members of his cabinet.

Playing Near Fire, Girl Fatally Burned

Martha, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Richards, was fatally burned Monday a short distance from the home of her parents at Fairburn when she attempted to light a fire to a stack of corn stalks in a field.

After igniting the stalks, the little girl stood by to watch the blaze only to be wrapped helplessly in the flames as they leaped from the ground. Her cries and screams brought help and she was rushed to Grady hospital in her parents' automobile for emergency treatment. She died a short while later.

KANSAS CITY AVIATRIX SAVES SELF BY JUMP

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 31.—(AP)—Mildred Kauffman, of Kansas City, saved herself by a parachute jump yesterday while attempting to better her record of 46 inside loops.

She was thrown from the cockpit of the plane while making the thirty-first loop and was caught by the feet in the safety strap.

She kicked herself free and descended 3,200 feet to a safe landing with her parachute. The plane was wrecked. Miss Kauffman regards her feat of 46 loops as a world's record for women.

Former Cornell Men Will Open Roll Call Today

ITHACA, N. Y., March 31.—(Special.)—Cornell alumni in every part of the United States and Canada will participate in the most comprehensive joint effort ever undertaken by this college group, under the two weeks, April 1 to 15. This period will be devoted to the Cornellian roll call, which is a simultaneous effort on the part of Cornell alumni to increase the number of members of the alumni fund-raising agency of the university. The roll call is patterned after the annual membership campaign of the American Red Cross.

Roll call chairmen have been appointed in over 200 geographical districts of the United States and Canada. Norman E. Elias, of the Fulton Bag & Cotton Mills, Atlanta, is in charge of the activities for Georgia and will be assisted by the following committee: Elbert P. Tuttle, of Sutherland & Tuttle; Alex C. Morgan, of Atlanta Savings bank, and L. Epps Brown, of Courts & Company, all of Atlanta.

In more than 150 communities Tuesday night, Cornell men and women will gather to inaugurate the roll call. A banquet in New York city will have as its guest and principal speaker Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, recently retired American ambassador to Germany and a former president of Cornell. Other speakers will be President Livingston Farrand, Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, and Jervis Langdon, of Elmira, N. Y., president of the Cornellian council. A special broadcast from station WABC and over the eastern network of the Columbia chain, through the Atlanta station WGST from 10:30 p. m. to 11 p. m., will carry a supplementary program of speeches and Cornell Glee Club music to the 41,000 Cornell alumni throughout the country.

Sheppard Refuses To Ask Dry Ballot

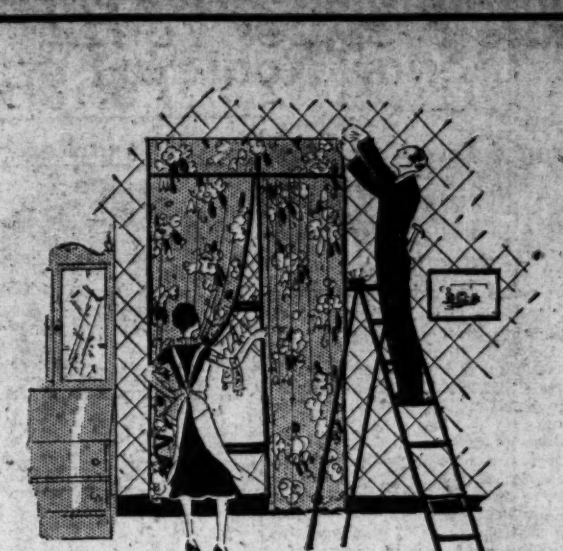

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(UN)—Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, famous as the author of the eighteenth amendment, refused today to join a movement for a prohibition referendum in Texas.

A state referendum, proposed to him by R. L. Henry, Houston, Texas, to be held as a part of the democratic primary in July, would only cause "strife and discord" in the party, Sheppard said in his reply.

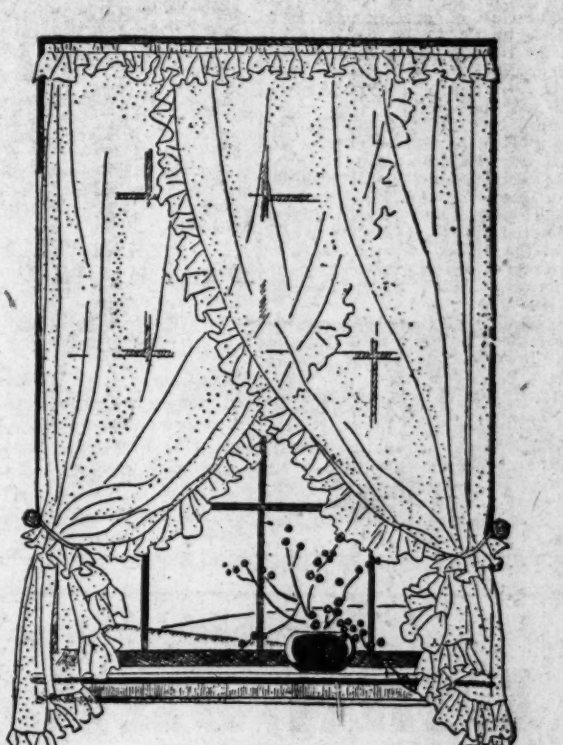

Henry asked the senator to join him in urging the state democratic committee, or in promoting petitions to direct the committee, to submit to the democratic voters four questions: whether the eighteenth amendment should be repealed; whether it should be modified; whether the Volstead act should be repealed or modified, and whether the Sheppard bill to make the buyer of liquor equally guilty with the seller should be enacted.

Is there any danger of the Natural Gas supply being exhausted?

The Southern Natural Gas Corporation has an assured supply of Natural Gas, as it draws its supply from one of the largest known Natural Gas reserves in the United States, located in the Monroe and Richland fields of Northeastern Louisiana. These prolific Natural Gas fields have a proven area containing five times the amount of Natural Gas as was estimated in these same fields five years ago. ## Constitution's Prize Offer Is Short Route to Fortune

Entrance Into Campaign at Present Time Will Add Biggest Credits.

There's no royal road to fortune. But there's a very convenient short cut which has been opened by The Atlanta Constitution, and it will lead scores of persons living everywhere to a fortune in weeks instead of years.

There is yet plenty of time to start out after the particular prize you'd like among the list of $25,000 in awards, to be distributed May 31. The campaign, in actual practice, is just getting started. The list of candidates with credits published is being printed each Thursday and Sunday, and each publication sees additions to the roster of ambitious persons who will participate in the prize distribution later.

Good Time to Enter.

Those who enter the campaign at this time will not be handicapped in the least, because they are getting in at the most profitable period of the campaign. It is made so by the 100,000 and 50,000 extra credits. On each $30 club of new prepaid subscriptions turned in by April 19, a bonus of 100,000 extra credits will be given. On each $50 club of new contract subscriptions, 20,000 extra credits will be given. These extra credits are in addition to the regular credits allowed for each subscription. Extra gold to the amount of $500 will be divided into seven awards, ranging from $25 to $200, and these will be given to the seven candidates, regardless of division or districts, who turn in the highest amounts in new subscription business during the period starting March 26 and ending April 19.

The winning of these gold awards will in no way interfere with the candidate's winning one of the regular awards. They are extra!

There is ample opportunity and reward for all. Liberal cash commissions are guaranteed to all active non-prize winners. You cannot lose.

Don't delay—start now! Send in the entry blank which appears in this issue of The Constitution. It starts you with 5,000 free credits.

Gets in Race

E. N. Hendrix, 325 Grant street, S. E., who has entered The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign, is taking advantage of the extra credit and $500 special gold offer in his efforts to win one of the eighteen automobiles and gold to be given May 31.

Speed Is Urged On Capitol Work

Governor L. G. Hardman conferred Monday with contractors who are to remodel the state capitol building. The conference, it was understood, was with reference to speeding up the work. Surveying and other preparations for the repairs have been going on for several days.

STATE REHABILITATION SERVICE THREATENED

Unless Congress Authorizes
$27,000 Needed, Work
Will Stop, Godard Says.

The rehabilitation service in Georgia is threatened unless congress authorizes funds provided for in a special appropriation bill now before the house, George D. Godard, supervisor of industrial rehabilitation division of the state board of vocational education, said Monday.

The bill provides an annual appropriation of $27,000 for carrying on the work in this state, Mr. Godard said. The amount must be matched by state funds. The failure of congress to pass the bill, he pointed out, would jeopardize state support of rehabilitation as the Georgia law is so phrased as to make state participation in the work contingent upon federal appropriations.

Georgia's representatives in congress have expressed themselves in favor of the measure and are working for its enactment, he said.

Records of the department show that there are now about 150 disabled persons in training and some 200 cases eligible for the service. Approximately 500 others are on the waiting list. Godard said that at least 3,000 additional cases have been reported to the division, but action on them has been deferred because of age, schooling and other causes.

The industrial and civilian rehabilitation division was established by legislative act in 1920. Applicants for the service must be at least 14 years of age, and suffering from injury or sickness sustained in industry or of such nature as to prevent them from working. They are trained for work they want to do, or that the division feels they are best able to do.

45 Georgians Sent To Parris Island

Forty-five Georgia youths have been sent from Atlanta to Parris Island, S. C., during the month of March. Lieutenant G. E. Monson, in charge of the Atlanta marine corps recruiting station, announced Monday. The quota for the month of April is 25 men.

Cotton Finance Pool Is Urged by Amoroso

Suggestion that the problem of the southern cotton growers could be solved by the formation of a cotton finance pool, was made by Martin Amoroso, of Marietta, at a conference held by him with Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia.

Mr. Amoroso's stabilization plan was submitted by him in writing when he called at the capitol to ascertain whether Mr. Talmadge felt the suggestion would receive the approval of the various state commissioners of agriculture of the cotton belt.

Commissioner Talmadge was of the opinion that the suggested pool undoubtedly would go far toward securing a better price for cotton, and expressed his belief that if such an organization were formed the heads of the agricultural departments of the states affected undoubtedly would be glad to hold a conference to back up the movement in any way possible.

At the time, however, he stressed the importance for southern farmers to raise sufficient food crops to care for the needs of their families and stock.

Mr. Amoroso's outline of his suggested finance pool was as follows:

Annually (September 1) representatives of the banks to meet and declare a loan value in "standard grades" of cotton—bonded warehouses certified as to grade by good bonded classifiers.

In 1929 when cotton was selling at 10 cents a pound, the pool would have loaned $10,000,000. Immediately after this announcement the price of cotton would rise and the pool would be able to buy all the cotton at the current rate at that time with eager buyers all over the world. The general market for cotton would be stabilized and the pool would be able to maintain a reasonable loan value in cotton. The banks would all the cotton from the seed on through the factory cloth. Loans on cotton are limited to the base of our entire banking and financial system. The pool would bring all the cotton in this country. I estimate to control the entire crop it could be loaned by the pool bank credit of $30,000,000. I would personally join the banks in this cotton credit and loan to $100,000,000. The southern states would be able to attract many millions if needed outside of the banks.

Prison Commission To Act on Slaying

The state prison commission is prepared to act today on the petition of Wash. Smith, 20-year-old Banks county storekeeper, who is sentenced to die in the electric chair at Milledgeville on Wednesday.

Smith was convicted of the murder of Jud Wells, a Banks county planter. An argument involving a girl is said to have brought about the shooting. Smith said at the time he intended to marry the girl. She has since married another man.

An effort was made last week to take the case before Governor L. G. Hardman. The governor declined to consider it until the prison commission had heard the appeal for clemency.

2 Injured Horsemen Reported Improving

Both Ivan Allen, business leader, and Kerfoot B. Hancock, prominent insurance man, were reported resting comfortably, although still confined Monday night following a double accident in which each was thrown from his horse as they were riding along a bridge path near Cheshire road Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Allen, who suffered a fractured ankle, was taken to a Wesley Memorial, where he was reported to have passed a "fairly comfortable" night. Mr. Hancock, whose horse reared and threw him to the roadway as Mr. Allen was being taken to the hospital by passing motorists, was said to be in satisfactory condition at his home, 1929 St. Louis place, N. E., though still confined to bed as a result of severe scalp injuries.

Two Emory Medicos To Run for President

It is practically certain that a medical student will head the Emory student body next year, both parties, the democratic and All-Emory, having nominated doctors for the presidency. Milton Stockman, Sigma Chi, hopes to repeat the success of last year's All-Emory candidate for his party. He will be opposed by a fellow medical student, Jack Cleveland, Alpha Tau Omega.

Ed Brown, independent prominent on the varsity debating team, and Tiger Thrasher, Chi Phi, have been nominated for the vice presidency by the democrats and All-Emory group, respectively.

Y. M. C. A. elections will be held separately from the others on April 7 in an effort on the part of this organization to divorce the "Y" from the influence of politics.

Given Divorce, Man Reweds Within Hour

The usual dry grind of undefended divorces in Fulton superior court Monday was enlivened by the marriage of a divorce plaintiff to another woman on the same day after the jury set him free from the defendant.

Leon Johnson, 25, of 70 Mortimer street, was given his second divorce verdict at noon in Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy's court. Johnson charged that the defendant, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, had threatened his life and treated him cruelly.

At 1 o'clock Johnson stood once again before Judge Pomeroy, and the judge married him to Miss Charlotte Hogan, 21, of 451 Third street, N. W. Judge Pomeroy Monday disposed of 75 undefended divorce cases, out of a total of 275 set for the week.

Arnold Will Attend Assay Office Hearing

C. R. Arnold, of Dahlonega, owner of gold mine property in the Lumpkin county belt, will leave today for Washington to appear before the coins, weights and measures committee Thursday on a hearing of the bill for a new assay office at Dahlonega.

The bill was introduced by Congressman Tom Bell in view of the increased prospecting activities in the Lumpkin county gold fields. Dahlonega was the site of a branch of the United States mint many years ago.

Civilians Observe April Fools' Day

April Fools' Day will be observed by the Civilians Club at its luncheon today at the Atlanta Athletic Club. It is announced by Dr. W. Earl Quillian, president. The program committee appointed for the month is composed of DeWald Cohen, chairman; Floyd Field, Ponville McWhorter, Herbert Finch and James A. Wood.

DEATH TAKES NOTED WOMAN SCIENTIST

Mrs. Souvielle Dies in Jacksonville at Age of 80 Years.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 31.—Mrs. Eliza M. Souvielle, 80, internationally known scientist, died here last night.

Three countries honored Mrs. Souvielle for her scientific work. She was made a member of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, the British Society for the Advancement of Science and the Seismographical Society of Japan.

Interested in science in early womanhood, Mrs. Souvielle spent her entire life in the study and teaching of science. She had scores of articles printed in the leading scientific magazines of the world and herself published a scientific magazine.

When a young woman Mrs. Souvielle lectured on science to students at Harvard University. She was said to have been the first woman ever to address the students on science.

Mrs. Souvielle was married twice. Her first husband was Thomas Bassnett, Illinois scientist. Her second husband was Dr. M. Souvielle, a French surgeon who distinguished himself during the Franco-Prussian war in 1870.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

At the time the Wright brothers perfected the airplane, Mrs. Souvielle was engaged in an effort to make one. She was said to have constructed several models and was planning to build a ship for an attempted flight at the time of the Wrights' success. She had patented several scientific inventions prior to that time.

THREE PERSONS PERISH AS FARM HOUSE BURNS

ANDERSON, Ind., March 31.—(AP) Three persons were burned to death in a fire that destroyed a farmhouse six miles northwest of this city early this morning. The victims were Mrs. James Gooding, 58, owner of the house; Mrs. Mary Rice, 60, and J. W. Moore, 65.

The origin of the fire was not determined. Mrs. Rice lived at the house with Mrs. Gooding and Moore was employed as a farm hand.

Officer To Return Escaped Prisoner

Henry Rosser, negro, who escaped from a prison camp at Rising Fawn 24 years ago, has been recaptured at Detroit, and a deputy sheriff dispatched to return him to the state, it was announced Monday at the state prison commission.

Rosser was sentenced to hard labor for life from Meriwether county in August, 1906. He escaped the following December. The prison commission was unable to supply further information.

British Treasury Has Large Deficit

LONDON, March 31.—(AP)—It was officially announced tonight that the deficit in the British national exchequer for the past financial year amounted to 14,523,263 pounds (about $72,616,315). The revenue for the year was 734,188,748 pounds, and the expenditures 748,712,011 pounds.

3 Women To Censor Movies for Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 31. (AP)—Motion pictures shown in Florida for at least the next four years will be under censorship supervision of three women, Mrs. Henry Tally, of Miami; Mrs. N. W. Hensley, Tampa, and Mrs. J. A. Craig, Jacksonville, whose appointment as members of the national board of review was announced today by Governor Doyle E. Carlton.

Appointment of the board is authorized by act of the 1921 legislature. Three appointees of former Governor Cary A. Hardee served throughout his term and that of former Governor John W. Martin. The board members draw no salary or expense funds.

Adoption of the law creating the board came after a hard fight in the legislature, it was recalled here today, which resulted in the state board members being shown of powers, as an amendment to the act provides that those pictures not passed by the national board of review or New York censorship board.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER SEES TARIFF GAG RULE

Ragon Declares Republican
Will "Steam-Roller"
Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—A prediction that the republican leaders in the house would force a "gag rule" when the tariff bill is considered was made today by Representative Ragon, of Arkansas, a democratic member of the ways and means committee.

Taking the floor as the republican leaders sought to clear the way for consideration of the tariff, the Arkansas member declared that the republican leadership was "so saturated with Grundism that it has not the proper sympathy with the interest of the agricultural people of the country."

He said that the "four horsemen" of the tariff bill would not permit a consideration of the senate measure in the house, and pleaded for an aggressive minority to set a course on rates and administrative features on which votes may be taken. This, he said, "will inspire the confidence of the sensible and unselfish agriculturists and industrialists."

He enumerated the "four horsemen" as Speaker Longworth, Representative Tilton, of Connecticut, the republican floor leader, whom he called first lieutenant; Chairman Snell, of the rules committee, whom he termed second lieutenant; and Chairman Hawley, of the ways and means committee, whom he described as "first sergeant."

This group, he said, had forced a "gag rule" on the house when the tariff was up for consideration originally. He predicted that they would not permit consideration of the senate bill by the house and added that unless one believed in Santa Claus and Easter rabbits, "you cannot believe that those who engineered the Hawley bill through this house last May will capitulate and permit a consideration of the senate amendment."

"The United States senate," Ragon asserted, "has done nothing within the last 25 years which ought to commend it more to the people of this country than its act of dissection and bringing to light the nefarious schemes which are incorporated in the Hawley bill."

Ragon read parts of a letter from the National Grange, which said the tariff bill "is a piece of legislation which will do more to harm the farmer than any other act of the senate."

He went on to say that "upon the best authority to be had we find that the tariff endeavor of congress for the last 14 months have entirely missed the mark at which they aimed. . . . Instead of placing agriculture on a parity with industry we have simply widened the gulf, to the hurt of agriculture."

Ragon said that under present conditions the debenture belongs in the tariff bill, and expressed the opinion that every tariff member in the house would support the senate flexible clause.

Hawks Details First Day's Trip Of Glider Train

BY FRANK M. HAWKS.
Holder of the Transcontinental Airplane Speed Record.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 31.—We were 28 miles from Van Cortlandt Park, New York, when our glider-plane air train started on its transcontinental voyage from San Diego. Here in Tucson, 420 miles to the east, we feel that we are a great deal more than half way.

Not only was this first day's flying the longest, and, because of the mountains, the most difficult of our eight daily hops, but the unsatisfactory weather conditions slowed and hampered us. Heavy clouds drifting in from the ocean lowered the ceiling to doubtful heights as the air train took off from Lindbergh field.

Accompanied by two movie planes, however, we succeeded in crossing a pass in the Rockies at 6,500 feet and on the other side we found skies which continued to smile the balance of the day. Going "over the hump" I reigned myself with church organ music coming in on my radio set.

To Fly-Field, Yuma, from Lindbergh field is 150 miles. Duke Jernigan, flying the tow ship, brought us over Yuma in 1 hour and 45 minutes. I cast off at 5,500 feet and after a 25-minute exhibition of gliding slid into the field at 11 o'clock.

All of Yuma, it seemed, turned out to meet us, but the crowd there was nothing to that which awaited us two hours later at Sky Harbor, Phoenix, 160 miles away.

Our trip to Phoenix was the most enjoyable stage of the flight. A tail wind sped us along sometimes as fast as 90 miles an hour, and when I cast off at 7,200 feet above the field favorable rising air streams permitted what must have been a convincing demonstration of soaring.

For 55 minutes before a throng which increased with the seconds as the East was sighted from around the countryside, I kept it aloft from that record height, turning this way and that, gliding up and down wind, climbing sometimes as much as 500 feet and wheeling slowly before the crowd's astonished upturned eyes.

For two or three minutes as I circled around an inquisitive buzzard, an animated counterpart of my glider, wheeled and turned and soared with me on the favorable up-currents. I guess he had never seen a fellow buzzard of the Eagle's complexion and 50-foot wing spread.

On the 110-mile stretch to Tucson we encountered still head winds which cut our average speed to nearly 50 miles an hour.

We thought we had allowed ample time to reach Tucson, but it was 7:30 p. m. and dark before I skimmed to earth in a flood of light from hundreds of automobiles fringing the field.

Tomorrow we go 280 miles into El Paso, stopping only once for gas at Lordsburg, N. M.

118 Davises Want 'James J.' in Senate

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—The Scots are clannish, as everybody knows; but so are the Welsh, on occasion. That's why Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who was born in Tredegar, Wales, and grew to manhood in Pennsylvania, where he is a candidate for United States senator, is so proud of a petition circulated in Carbon county to have his name printed on the republican ballot. Signed it was made no mistake—by 118 registered voters, all of whom were Davises. There was room for no more names.

But the tale does not end there. The appended oath was subscribed to by Harry A. Davis before B. R. Davis, notary public.

Second Murder Mystery Puzzles Arkansas Officers

Mother and Brothers Destroy Identification of Man Believed To Have Been "Taken To Ride."

GRAVETTE, Ark., March 31.—(AP)—Mystery surrounding the death of a man whose body was found beside a highway near here deepened today when Mrs. Mary Foltz, of Martinsburg, Mo., told officers the body was not that of her son, William.

Dr. J. A. Bass, of Columbia, Mo., previously had identified the body as that of William Foltz, a land speculator of considerable means. Despite the lack of identification of the mother, Dr. Bass and a friend, a Mr. Johnson, insisted the body, found last Saturday, was that of a man they had known since last fall as William Foltz.

Mrs. Foltz was substantiated by two other sons, John and Frank, and a daughter, Mrs. Anna Stanek, of Wellsville, Mo. Although they had not seen the son and brother in 17 years they were positive in their identification because a scar resulting from an operation was not on the body.

Pictures of William Foltz, produced by Mrs. Foltz, did not correspond with features of the dead man.

The Foltzs said William left home to work as a bell boy in a St. Louis hotel and later worked there as street car motorman. They last heard from him, they said, in 1920 from South Carolina.

Letters found in the dead man's clothing and other identifying marks showed him to be Foltz.

Sheriff Edgar Fields has advanced the theory the man was traveling through the country in an automobile and picked up some one who killed and robbed him and then threw the body into the ditch where it was found.

LaVarre Wins Writ In Contempt Fight

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—William J. LaVarre, newspaper publisher of Columbia, S. C., obtained a writ of habeas corpus in federal court today in his fight against removal to Macon, Ga., on a warrant charging criminal contempt of court. The writ is returnable April 14 before Federal Judge Frank Coleman.

The writ was granted by Judge Coleman on evidence submitted at a commitment hearing today before U. S. Commissioner Francis O'Neill, who had ordered LaVarre returned to Georgia.

LaVarre contends he is not guilty of criminal contempt and did not violate a federal court order issued at Macon by interfering with the duties of a receiver appointed for his newspaper properties in Georgia and South Carolina.

350 Automobiles Destroyed by Blaze

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 31.—(AP)—More than 350 automobiles, a loading dock and shed owned by the Willy-Overland Company, near the terminal railway, were reported destroyed by fire that raged there late this afternoon.

This is not the main plant of Overland. First reports estimated the damage at approximately $500,000. Fifty box cars, many containing five automobiles each, were burned and many more endangered. One loading shed was leveled.

Immediately after the blaze was seen by workmen an explosion occurred, sending flames 200 feet into the air. The fire attracted thousands and traffic was quickly tied up.

Firemen dragged their lines a quarter of a mile over the mesh of railroad tracks and were aided by volunteers who formed a bucket brigade.

OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON POSTOFFICE TODAY

Clift, Pegram and Wickersham To Talk Over Central Site.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(Special.)—In a final effort to reach some definite agreement over the differences which heretofore have caused delay in the formal selection of the Central of Georgia property as a site for the new federal building authorized for Atlanta, officials of the treasury and postoffice departments tomorrow are scheduled to confer with President A. E. Clift, of the Central of Georgia railway; R. B. Pegram, vice president of the Central, and Charles A. Wickersham, of the Atlanta Terminal Company.

The conference had originally been set for the middle of last week, but was postponed because of the inability of the terminal and railway officials to come to Washington at that time.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Perry Heath, who with Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General John W. Philip, will represent the government in the conference, has indicated that unless some definite agreement results the two departments handling the negotiations will seek a new site elsewhere.

To this end, Messrs. Heath and Philip, in fact, have already caused a preliminary survey to be made of a number of additional sites submitted to the government at the time bids were opened last summer.

In conferences held last week with Senator W. J. Harris and Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Georgia, the two department officials said they would proceed immediately with the selection of a new site if an agreement is not forthcoming at tomorrow's deliberations.

Although the Central of Georgia property next to the terminal was tentatively selected months ago, government heads and the owners of the site have never been able to get together on certain aerial rights sought in connection with the plan for building conveyors from the new federal structure to the station.

PHILADELPHIAN DIES IN CHAIR FOR MURDER

BELLEFOUNTE, Pa., March 31.—(AP)—Ralph Russell Sloat, 30, of Philadelphia, was electrocuted at Rockview penitentiary today for the murder of John Lowry, Scranton taxicab driver.

As the death march started Sloat was supported by Rev. P. N. Osborne, prison chaplain, who accompanied him to the chair. Recognizing one of the witnesses Sloat said: "Good-bye, Joe." They were his last words.

The body was unclaimed. Lowry was slain February 2, 1929, and his bullet-riddled body was found a few days later half buried in a stream near Scranton.

Sloat, his common-law wife, Julia Fleischer, his sister, Lillian Sloat, and Edward Saunders, with whom Lillian was living, were arrested in Philadelphia after Miss Sloat had informed police that her brother had told her in the presence of Saunders that he had killed a taxi driver in Scranton.

After conviction and sentence Sloat started appeals on the ground that no motive had been proved.

Monaco Mayor Sees Party List Victors in Poll

MONTE CARLO, March 31.—(AP)—In national and municipal elections in Monaco yesterday the party of Mayor Eugene Marquet won a decisive victory. The vote was for the Marquet list, with the remainder of the 671 ballots cast divided between the opposition Bonaventurists and Aurelians.

Significance of the vote was in the party's support of the reigning prince, Louis, who has been reported about to abdicate in disgust at the quibbling over politics and disposal of the gambling casino receipts. The Bonaventurists supported Prince Louis's daughter, Princess Charlotte, in opposition to her divorced husband, Prince Pierre.

In view of his large majority Mayor Marquet is expected to prevail upon Prince Louis to abandon the idea of abdicating. With Louis sitting more firmly on the throne of the little principality it is believed that much of the political maneuvering will be eliminated, since neither is likely to step suddenly into power. If Louis had abdicated Pierre probably would have been regent for his son, Prince Reymier.

The vote passed peacefully. The ordinary army and police force of 80 was supplemented by 20 men in preparation for the occasion, but the additional men were not needed. Two expensive cars were used by the Marquet group to round up every available voter.

The Bonaventurists, so-called from their leader, withdrew early in the day, when the results of the voting were clear. The Aurelians followed suit shortly.

In the campaigning preceding the election the Marquet followers accused the Bonaventurists of cynically campaigning for the princess but really seeking to get control of the government in order to oust the princely family and found a republic.

ACROBATS PERFORM FOR MAE WEST JURY

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—Something new in courtroom procedure evolved today in the prosecution of the trial of Mae West and 56 others, mostly actors involved in the presentation of "Pleasure Man," Miss West's play which was closed as objectionable by the police in October, 1928.

"Allez-oups!" grunted a tall, stringy man, and a little, chunky man, who a few minutes before had been turning hand springs over at one side of the courtroom to limber up, leaped nimbly to his shoulders.

The judge in his trailing robe descended the bench, and the jurors left the jury box and crowded around as Herman Lenzen and William Selig, acrobats, showed them just what they contributed to "Pleasure Man."

Otherwise, today's session was dull, with minor witnesses for the defense going over their lines, word by word, under direct and cross-examination. The trial today entered its third week and the judge threatened to hold night sessions if it is not speeded up.

After explaining they had been doing this same act for three years in vaudeville, Lenzen and Selig went through it twice for the jury today.

Four Men Rescued From Small Boat

MIAMI, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—After 44 hours of drifting at sea in a 32-foot motorboat, four Miami men arrived here today from West Palm Beach, where they were set ashore, after being picked up by a coast guard cutter.

The men were Howard Rosendorf, who went for a short cruise Saturday afternoon as a prospective purchaser of the boat; Austin Taylor, who was demonstrating the vessel; Jack Wilson, the owner, and a mechanic.

The quartet was picked up as their boat drifted between Palm Beach and West End, a Bahamas island, at 8 o'clock today. Sighting of the motorboat with the men in it was reported today by the steamer Edgell, of Tropical Radio here, but the message from the steamer said the men had been picked up by the coast guard vessel.

1,968 Stills Seized By Agents in February

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced today that prohibition agents throughout the country had seized 1,968 illicit stills during February.

Of the stills seized 84 were operating on molasses; 71 on straight grain; 52 on denatured alcohol and alcoholic preparations; 649 on corn sugar, and 1,112 on corn meal, cane sugar and beet sugar.

During the month the agents seized 1,009,398 gallons of cane and beet sugar mash, 1,811,000 gallons of corn sugar mash, 93,000 pounds of corn sugar and 10,000 gallons of denatured alcohol and alcoholic preparations.

Mississippi Solon Asks Ban on Lawyers

JACKSON, Miss., March 31.—(AP)—An appropriation to the State Bar Association to investigate the conduct of all attorneys connected with the settlement of the anti-trust suit by the attorney general against the Warren Brothers' Road Company, was contained in a house bill introduced today by Representative T. N. Gore, Quitman county.

Representative Gore also has prepared a resolution demanding the impeachment of District Attorney Howie on five charges in connection with the report of a special house committee which shows that Howie received $13,000 from the settlement of a "mystery case" with George B. Crafts, general counsel of Warren Brothers.

HERRICK'S MEMORY HONORED AT SERVICES

PARIS, March 31.—(AP)—The first memorial service for Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France, who died at his post here one year ago today, was held this forenoon at the American pro-cathedral.

The same prayers were said and the same hymns sung which were Mr. Herrick's favorites in his life—"O Paradise," and the twenty-third Psalm, just as at the services a year ago before the French government sent his body home on the cruiser Tourville.

The memorial services were attended by many prominent persons of different nationalities in Paris. President Doumergue, Foreign Minister Briand, Marshal Poincaré and Marshal Joffre sent representatives.

FALL FILES APPEAL FROM BRIBE VERDICT

Alleges Judge Virtually Directed Jury To Convict Him.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—The appeal of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, from his conviction on charges of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Edward L. Doheny, was filed today in the court of appeals of the District of Columbia.

The appeal, which was filed by Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Fall, set up 5 points as to why the verdict of the lower court should be set aside. It maintained that the charge against Fall should have been dismissed because Secretary Doheny and not Fall had power over the oil reserve which the government charged Fall awarded to the California oil man after receiving the bribe.

As its second reason, the appeal said that when Fall and Doheny were acquitted of conspiracy growing out of the same transaction, the government was barred from trying Fall again.

Thirdly it said that Justice William Hitz in the District of Columbia supreme court erred in admitting certain testimony as evidence against Fall.

The fourth and fifth reasons set up were that Justice Hitz in his charge virtually directed the jury to return a verdict of guilty with recommendation of clemency and that this action in effect deprived Fall of the right of trial by jury.

The brief contained 400 pages with a digest of all of the proceedings of Fall's bribery trial. It was signed today by Justice Hitz and was filed in the court of appeals late in the afternoon.

The appeal was filed nine days after Doheny had been acquitted of giving Fall a bribe.

Missouri Prisoners Return to Factories

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 31.—(AP)—Approximately 1,550 prisoners in the Missouri penitentiary returned to work in the shops this morning for the first time since the multiple strikes of last Wednesday and Thursday. The men ate breakfast at 6:30 o'clock and then went quietly to their posts in the factories.

There was no disorder and the men apparently fell back into their regular routine willingly. An augmented force of prison guards and national guardsmen stood by while the factories opened.

The broom, twine and shoe factories remained closed because of a surplus of manufactured product on hand.

Before the strikes last week the prison work sheet showed a total of 1,965 prisoners at work. Of these several hundred worked in the three shops that remained closed today.

Trigger Woman's Love Sentenced to Death

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 31.—(UN)—Glenn Dague, bandit lover of Irene Schroeder, "blonde trigger woman," was found guilty of first degree murder tonight for the shooting of Corporal Brady Paul, of the state police.

As the jury's verdict, reached after two hours' deliberation, carried no recommendation for mercy, Dague will be sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Irene Schroeder was sentenced to death recently for the same killing.

ECKENER INSPECTS RICHMOND AIRPORT

Graf Skipper Seeks Site for Western Base for Zeppelin Line.

RICHMOND, Va., March 31.—(AP)—Richmond's airport facilities and surrounding terrain were inspected thoroughly today by Dr. Hugo Eckener, Graf Zeppelin commander, on his tour of the mid-Atlantic states to select a western base of the proposed German-American Zeppelin line.

Although stating "there is reason to believe the people of Virginia and the people of my fatherland, Germany, are soon to come even closer together," the Zeppelin builder tonight declined to make a definite statement on location of the American air terminal.

Much is yet to be done in connection with the contemplated line, he said, including a meteorological and topographical study of the sites which he has and will visit before ending his present sojourn in the United States.

Dr. Eckener took freely of his plans for a new and larger Zeppelin, which he said would require 18 months more to complete. All arrangements for inaugurating the service would be completed by 1932, he stated.

The commander's inspection here centered about Turner flying field, adjoining Richard E. Byrd municipal airport. The property is owned by Captain A. A. Anderson, of New York, and is the site here recommended for the proposed terminal.

Tomorrow Dr. Eckener and his party will inspect sites at Newport News and Old Point Comfort and will be the guests of the cities of Norfolk and Newport News. Today he was formally received by Governor John Garland Pollard and Mayor J. Fulmer Bright and was entertained at a luncheon.

His party includes Commander John H. Towers, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics; J. C. Hunsacker, vice president of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, and Fred M. Harpham, vice president of the Goodyear Rubber Company.

The Rainbow's End is within Your reach

DID you ever feel so desperate you wanted to jump out of a window? That's the wrong end of the rainbow.

Ill health is a burden on body, mind and friends. But Nature never fails to signal her dangers. Lack of appetite, flabby flesh, loss of strength and skin troubles is a warning from Nature. This is her way of pleading for help.

The basic requirement for good health is rich, red blood--those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Thousands of people have a low blood count--to this may be attributed "run down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you desire firm flesh, a glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessings of health you must keep your blood in good condition.

First impressions can't be good without a clear skin. Old friends may excuse skin blemishes and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting, neither can they be covered up. They embarrass--hold people back--steal away joy and happiness.

S. S. S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong--your nerves will become steady--more happiness and friends will follow.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtime. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years. All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

GASKINS SURRENDERS
IN LIBERTY COUNTYSays He Remembers Nothing Concerning Slaying of His Wife.

HINESVILLE, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—English Gaskins, 46, who on Saturday night killed his wife in Tattall county, near Cobbtown, voluntarily gave himself up to A. B. Strickland, a resident of the northwestern corner of Liberty county, who in turn brought him to Hinesville and turned him over to Sheriff M. F. Clark.

In conversation this morning Gaskins told authorities that he remembered nothing of Saturday night's incident, and said that the first he knew of the crime was when someone told him Sunday that he had wounded his wife. When later he was informed that he had killed his wife, he broke down and wept bitterly.

Residents of the section in which Gaskins lives told Sheriff Clark that he (Gaskins) was an attentive farmer, but admitted that he had had recent altercations with his wife.

Asked as to whether he had been drinking, Gaskins replied that he had not had a drop of liquor. No charge has been made against him, pending the arrival of Tattall county authorities, to whom he will be turned over.

LIFE THREATENED
THREE WEEKS AGO.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie Gaskins, who was slain last night by her husband at the home of a sister in Jacksonville, Fla., took refuge in Savannah about three weeks ago, saying her husband had threatened to kill her at that time.

Mrs. Gaskins and her three little girls stayed several days at the Citadel of the Salvation Army, until she was given money by relatives to go to the home of a sister in Jacksonville, Fla. She was understood to have gone from Jacksonville to the home of her brother, Plummer Hamm, in Metter, where she was stabbed to death last night.

REVIVAL AT VALDOSTA
WILL OPEN MAY 5

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 31.—Rev. Frank Morgan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Augusta, will conduct a revival at the First Presbyterian church here beginning May 5.

Dr. Morgan is the son of Dr. Campbell Morgan, a most distinguished pulpit speaker, and his coming to this city is being awaited with much interest by the members of that church and their friends.

Revival services have just been closed at the First Baptist church and the Church of Christ. At the former, Dr. Henley M. Fugate, the pastor, did the preaching and at the latter Rev. Hall Calhoun, of Nashville, Tenn., was the preacher.

A revival is now under way at the First Christian church, Rev. O. E. Speigle, of Montgomery, being in charge. On April 13 a revival will commence at the First Methodist church, with Rev. Marvin Williams, of Barnesville, doing the preaching and later in the month the Lee Street Baptist church will begin its revival for the spring season.

MERCER TO CONDUCT
PROHIBITION POLL

MACON, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—To determine how the youth of the state of Georgia looks upon prohibition, or the famous Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, the Mercer Cluster, student weekly publication of Mercer university, announced yesterday that a straw vote would be taken among the student body of the college and all high school seniors in the state.

Four thousand copies of this week's edition of the Cluster have been sent to every high and preparatory school in Georgia. Ballots are to be clipped from the pages of the Cluster and mailed back to Mercer, where they will be counted. The results will be made public in the near future.

The votes of the high school students will be tabulated separately from those of Mercer students. The questions asked are the same as are being used by the Literary Digest in its nation-wide poll.

ROME CHURCH SLIGHTLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

ROME, Ga., March 31.—The St. Mary's Roman Catholic church here was slightly damaged by fire which was discovered about 7:30 o'clock Monday night. Firemen extinguished the blaze before it made much headway.

STORY TOLD HERSELF

"It was really embarrassing to be not over thirty years old and have gray hair and itchy annoying dandruff. It was causing my hair to comb out by the handful and my scalp seemed so dry and itchy all the time," writes Mrs. Gray, whose picture appears on the right. "Then I learned about Let's Hair Tonic and it is nothing short of a miracle what it did for me. Four bottles and a weekly shampoo with their powder did it. The first bottle made such a wonderful improvement I kept on and today my scalp is as healthy as can be. Not a bit of dandruff any more and you should have seen the gray hairs go back to its former color as a girl. I rubbed it into my scalp sparingly every night so obtained quick results."

Anyone may obtain the same results. Dandruff and gray hairs are not at all the fashion in these bustling times. Be better groomed and keep young-looking if you wish to force ahead socially or in business. No one need be designated as the gray-haired party any more. Obtain a bottle of your druggist, or send $1 to Let's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md., for bottle return mail if store hasn't it yet. Results guaranteed. Satisfactory in six weeks or money refunded on demand.—(adv.)

Orphan Boy Inherits
$750,000 Fortune

VIDALIA, Ga., March 31.—Horace Sasser has inherited a fortune of $750,000 and a half dozen flowing oil wells in the Texas fields, according to his step-grandmother, Mrs. R. J. Anderson, of Vidalia. The bequest came from a great-uncle who for many years has been a citizen of Texas.

Mr. Sasser is the orphan son of Dubouche Sasser and Jewel Anderson Sasser, and has many relatives in this section. He also is related to the family of Congressman Larsen, of the 12th district of Georgia.

Negro Quarrel
Ends in Slaying

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Arnold Mitchum, 37, Morgan county white farmer, was killed, it is believed accidentally, in a shooting affray engaged in by Charlie Watkins, a negro living on the Mitchum farm, and two other negroes from Walton county last Saturday night, it was learned here today.

The negroes are said to have been quarreling over the price of liquor. Watkins and the Walton county negroes are being held in jail at Madison pending further investigation.

According to the police, the Walton county negroes went to Mitchum's house, about 12 miles from Madison, in the Fair Play settlement, and asked about obtaining liquor. Mitchum is said to have made a price on the whisky and accompanied the negroes to Watkins' house on the farm. Watkins is claimed to have objected to the low price for liquor, which was offered by his employer and a quarrel began between the negroes, ending in the shooting.

Watkins owns a .38 pistol and it was a lead bullet of that calibre which entered Mitchum's head. The Walton county negroes used an automatic pistol shooting steel bullets. Watkins has not admitted he shot Mitchum. Officers believe a bullet from Watkins' gun, meant for one of the negroes, hit Mitchum, who was standing nearby.

NEW HOMES BUILT IN MILLEDGEVILLE

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 31.—Milledgeville's housing situation, which has been almost critical since the influx of people in connection with the new Georgia Power Company, is being relieved by the erection of a number of new homes. A large number of new homes have been built and four private houses and an apartment house are now in process of construction.

Mrs. A. Goldstein is erecting a big residence on South Jefferson street. Arthur Carr is erecting two houses in West End. Mrs. Ben Bass is building a new bungalow, and L. S. Fowler is building a big apartment house on West McIntosh street that will contain eight apartments of four rooms each. Practically all of these new structures have already been rented before completion.

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 31.—Dr. A. D. Williams, of Folkston, who has announced as a candidate for congress from the eleventh district, will open his campaign at Woodbine next Monday.

Braswell Deen, editor of the Alma Times, is already in the race, and it is certain that the incumbent, W. C. Langford, of Douglas, will also run.

L. E. Mallard, of Folkston, representative from Charlton county, has been named chairman of Dr. Williams' campaign committee.

The announcement that Dr. Williams will be a candidate for congress is the second to be made. Braswell Deen, editor of the Alma Times, being in the race already. No announcement has been made as yet by the incumbent, W. C. Langford, of Douglas.

FARMERS' PROBLEMS
OUTLINED BY SQUENeed of Local Curb Market
Stressed by Head of State
College of Agriculture.

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—Co-ordination of urban activities will inaugurate a new economic program of great significance, in the opinion of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture.

As Dr. Soule sees it, the most important questions now confronting business leaders and farmers are: "How can we make ourselves more prosperous? How can we conserve and expand our local resources? How can we make our dollars perform more service and still retain them in the local bank? How can we foster and promote urban and rural good will with greater efficiency and success in the future? How can we best utilize the needs of the modern market for food and dietary problems? Surely, these are far-reaching and significant questions to which we need to find an affirmative answer."

In his analysis, Dr. Soule adds: "Fortunately, this can be done without loss of time and at very little expense since there are no apparent real obstacles to the solution of these problems. It will of course necessitate the co-ordination of the efforts of our farmers and businessmen upon an acceptable basis. Since, however, the plan calls for no sacrifice on the part of anyone, there should be no difficulty in its accomplishment. In a word, one of our crying needs at present for the establishment at many important centers throughout the state of a well-organized and directed local curb market where small as well as larger farm owners and operators may sell their produce upon a fair and equitable basis."

At the present time many of our farmers with small quantities of varied products at their disposal do not seem to have facilities for merchandising the same within their reach. A curb market properly organized and run should enable large numbers of them to sell their products directly or to aggregate them on a community basis, send them to market by truck with economy and dispatch, and sell them at advantage.

"Undoubtedly, a movement of this kind if properly fostered by our business men would stimulate and increase many of our small farmers and enable them to add a considerable volume of ready cash to their annual income. The materials they have to sell being locally grown would tend to keep a considerable volume of the money now sent outside of the state for products of the character under discussion here at home. This would add not only to the wealth of the individuals concerned but the communities in which they live as well and could stimulate local trade in a judgment to a very acceptable and desirable degree."

There is one place in this state where an activity of the kind indicated has been established. The volume of local sales and the turnover resulting therefrom is said to aggregate more than a million dollars a year. This money has been kept permanently in the home town concerned and so become an actual asset as well as a permanent type of resource.

"The people of towns and communities served would also be benefited, and a part of the deficiency in green-leaved vegetables and other types of garden products now so evidently noted in the average dietary supplied on a more acceptable basis."

The research work carried on here at the college by our dietary specialists shows that the average Georgia food ration is deficient in iron, lime, and phosphorus. It is also lacking in the content of certain essential vitamins and more particularly those now known to be primarily concerned with the health and well-being of both children and adults.

"We are particularly anxious, therefore, to see the general cultivation of vegetables in this state not only increased, but a satisfactory local market for the surplus of perishables thus made available and so sorely needed in our urban centers developed at the same time. The plan outlined above should enable us to consummate the ends in view in an acceptable manner to the material interest of all concerned."

"Curb markets of the nature under discussion have been established in the towns and cities of most of the northern states for many years. There is a crying need for them here in the south. Their organization along wise and efficient lines offers the local businessman a most desirable opportunity to contact with and benefit all those living out in the surrounding countryside. It will insure the retention at home of much of the great sums of money sent to distant points for perishable products. It will stimulate local trade as already pointed out. It will promote good-will between the merchant and the farmer. Let us capitalize upon this great opportunity to the fullest extent possible."

"The small farmer who is relatively isolated cannot diversify his crops and therefore keep step with the tide of progress unless he can vary his production and then find an acceptable market for the surplus of perishables in particular which he raises. The plan outlined above will help materially toward solving what has hitherto been a very difficult economic problem to handle irrespective of the other manifest advantages it offers to all concerned."

"Under the circumstances, we hope that our businessmen can see their way clear to support and endorse this project. It certainly constitutes a problem of fundamental importance and concern to the welfare interests of our farmers as well as all those resident in our rapidly growing urban centers."

"Manifestly, the correction and improvement of the dietary needs and requirements of both our rural and urban people constitutes a major objective of such outstanding significance as to make its early accomplishment greatly to be desired. It seems to me, therefore, that no activity concerning the progress and development of our agriculture possesses more merit than the one under discussion. It certainly has possibilities of great economic importance. It will stimulate local trading and buying. It will tend to keep our money at home and therefore improve the health of the community and promote good will and friendship. It will help build up the towns and the open countryside concerned. It should enable us in the aggregate to make a minimum of ten million of waste products a year into permanent assets. It will do more to encourage the improvement of our standards of living and the live-at-home trade-at-home proposition than anything else that has been brought into being during recent years."

Way to Get At a Cold
Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascarets. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?—(adv.)

Mothers... Watch
Children's COLDs

COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance—at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musteroles once every hour for five hours.

Children's Musteroles is just good old Musteroles, you have known so long, in milder form.

Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musteroles on hand, for adults and the milder—Children's Musteroles for little ones. All druggists.

PETITION TO OUST
BOARD MEMBER FAILSLegal Residence of O. T.
Peebles Involved in Case
at Cartersville.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., March 31. Quo warranto proceedings to oust Oscar T. Peebles from the board of education of Bartow county were dismissed by Judge Claude C. Pittman in Bartow superior court late Monday afternoon after an all-day hearing.

The petition, signed by 25 residents of the county, challenged the validity of Peebles to maintain a residence in Stamp Creek, the district he represents as a member of the board, and live in another town. Peebles has been making his home temporarily in Cartersville for several months.

After the prosecution had introduced an array of witnesses the case took a surprising turn late in the afternoon when more than half of the petitioners requested that their names be stricken from the list.

Judge Pittman, in rendering his decision, declared that Peebles' home in Stamp Creek was recognized as his legal residence and that the prosecution had failed to show that this residence was not within the district line.

Mr. Peebles has served as a member of the board for about two years. His place was declared vacant at a recent session of the grand jury and J. R. Henderson was named as his successor. The action, however, was made ineffective by Judge Pittman's verdict.

The petitioners were represented by Whitaker & Whitaker, while William T. Townsend and William A. Ingram served as counsel for Mr. Peebles.

African Astronomer
Scouts Planet Find

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, March 31.—(AP)—Professor H. E. Wood, astronomer of the South African Union, today flatly declared the planet recently discovered by the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Arizona, was the trans-Neptunian planet long sought by astronomers. He declared it was only one-thirtieth the size of the earth and estimated that it was 40 times further from the sun than the earth.

VALDOSTANS TO HEAR
EMORY CLUB SINGERS

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 31.—The Emory Junior College Glee Club will make its annual spring appearance at the Ritz theater here on Friday evening, April 11, under the direction of James Dasher, making the fifth appearance of the Glee Club before the public this season. Three performances have already been given in other places, and another performance is scheduled for Waycross on April 4.

Floridian Killed
As Auto Wrecks

ADEL, Ga., March 31.—Roy Manasse, an auto salesman of Jacksonville, was killed and B. H. Pinson, also of Jacksonville, was seriously injured when their car turned over four miles south of Lenox Sunday. They were on their way to Macon. They were discovered by a driver of a bus and Mr. Pinson was carried to Sparks, where his injuries were attended and he was later taken to a Jacksonville hospital. He was unconscious when found and was not able to give an account of the accident.

Warrenton Man
Commits Suicide

WARRENTON, Ga., March 31.—Alfred Lockett committed suicide this morning about 8 o'clock by shooting himself in the breast with a shotgun. He died instantly. The shooting occurred at the home here of his father, T. S. Lockett. He was about 26 years old, and no motive can be assigned for his act.

up. Mr. Pinson's relatives reside in Macon and Mr. Manasse's in Jacksonville, and they came to Sparks Sunday in response to messages. Mr. Manasse's body was taken to Jacksonville. The car was badly torn.

Don't Let Them April Fool You!

PROFESSIONAL pessimists insist that "business is rotten." That nothing can be done about it. . . . Don't let them April Fool you.

Professional optimists maintain that existing conditions are only temporary. That they will soon change, of their own accord. . . . Don't let them April Fool you, either.

Face the facts. The year 1930 will be a good year only for those business men, for those concerns that go out after business aggressively.

Earnest Elmo Calkins, writing in the March "Review of Reviews," sounds the proper keynote: "The time has come to use advertising as it was intended to be used, to stimulate business. Never has there been a time for a cleaner test. There are no adverse factors except the mental hazard of last year's stock slump in men's minds. The obstacle is psychological, not physical."

City Lost on Concrete Deals, Clarke Donaldson Declares

Present Chief of Construction Refutes Statement Issued by William A. Hansell, Ex-Head.

The records of William A. Hansell as chief of construction show that the city of Atlanta lost money in its paving deals with the power company, Clarke A. Donaldson, the present construction chief, declared Monday in a public statement, issued in answer to one of Hansell, published in Sunday's newspapers.

Mr. Donaldson, referring to the Moreland avenue concrete contract entered into by the city with the power company, which Solicitor-General John A. Boykin charges cost the city treasury $14,000 by virtue of the city's selling and delivery at $7 a cubic yard concrete in the power company, says that "it did entail a loss and this is shown in his (the former chief of construction) own books."

The present construction head denies that the city is still operating on such terms with the power company, declaring that the power company paves the area between and to the sides of its tracks, according to agreement, and no effort has been made by officials of the company to pay less.

Donaldson's Statement.

Mr. Donaldson's statement follows: "I note in the press Sunday a statement of the former chief of construction relative to the city furnishing and placing ready mixed concrete to the power company in the paving of the car track area at $7 per cubic yard, in which he admits this was done in 1928, and states 'if it was wrong in 1928, what made it right in 1929?'"

"I wish to say in reply to this statement that the city did not furnish one yard of concrete to the power company in the paving of the car track area in 1928 as low as $7 per cubic yard, but on the other hand every yard of concrete furnished the company was much in excess of $7 per cubic yard and if he has investigated this matter at all, he knows that this is a fact. However, on the first paving job done by the city in the car track area, viz: Peachtree street, from Brookwood station, north to 26th street, the power company wanted to settle with the city on this basis, but we could not do it as it would have entailed a loss of about $1,000 to the city, and consequently they were billed on this work for labor and materials used."

"I also wish to disagree with the former chief of construction when he says that the $7 per cubic yard charge for concrete to the power company did not entail a loss to the city. It did entail a loss, and this is shown by his own figures and records."

"He further seems to leave the impression that the municipality secured payment, on the other hand, by the power company without cost to the city, or property owners."

Required to Pave Area.

"Does he not know that the power company, under its franchise and right to maintain tracks and to operate cars on the streets of the city, is obligated to pave and maintain this pavement in the car track area at no expense to the municipality or property owners? I have found the power company officials in all instances to fully understand this, and that they are not looking to the city to participate in the cost of any paving that the company may be liable for; and, further, the city certainly does not expect the company to do any more paving than just what they may be liable for."

"Any statement to the effect that the city was getting paving by the power company free is misleading. The power company, to my knowledge, has never placed any paving on city streets—except in the car track area, or in the replacement of utility cuts."

"He further states that he can find no authority whereby the city should furnish concrete in place for the power company, other than under the council resolution of March, 1928. Every job the construction department did for the power company in 1929, where ready-mixed concrete was furnished and placed in the car track area, the power company was billed for labor and materials used, and in every instance this exceeded $7 per cubic yard."

"The last job done in 1928 was on Mitchell street, from Washington street to Pryor street. The power company claimed on receiving the bill for this work that they could buy cement for less than the city was paying for it, and asked that the bill be reduced accordingly. This we could not do, so a bill was rendered for all labor and materials used less the cement, which they paid and replaced the amount of cement used by shipping the same to the city's warehouse."

"I wish to call to the attention of the former chief of construction the fact that the utility cuts account in the office of the city comptroller showed a loss to the city on this work in 1927 of $10,710.93 and in 1928

this same account showed a loss to the city of $7,107.06, and in 1929 this same account showed the city amount of $8,440.61.

"If the city was not losing money on the $7 per cubic yard transaction, how is it in two years there was a loss to the city of $17,817.65?"

Negress Given Year In Attempted Arson

It was all right for Lizzie Henderson, negress, to get mad because her husband left her for another woman, but when she tried to burn up a house out of spite, that was going too far, a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court decided Monday in finding Lizzie guilty of attempted arson, with a recommendation that the offense be treated as a misdemeanor.

Tom Todd, fireman at No. 5 station house, testified that the woman had threatened to set fire to the basement of 340 Formwalt street. Half an hour after the threat, the woman was seen coming out of the basement, followed by smoke, another witness said. The fire department put the blaze out before it gained much headway. Lizzie, on the stand, in her own defense, denied being there when the fire broke out, and also denied knowing anything about the fire. Judge Humphries gave her 12 months on the chain gang. The building was occupied by D. P. Werts, and Lizzie made her home in the basement, it was said.

Emory Club Quartet To Appear Thursday

The Emory Glee Club quartet, radio favorites, will participate in the Atlanta concert of the club Thursday night, at which time Miss Mildred Dilling, harpist, and Edward Kane, tenor, will be featured as solo artists.

Much praised for its entertaining ability, the university quartet is perhaps the best known in Atlanta. It was trained under Dr. Malcolm H. Dewey, director of music at Emory. Members of the quartet to be heard in the concert are three Georgians: Rosser Smith, George Monk and George Rogers, and Lawrence Chaffee, of New Orleans, La. Monday at the Cable Piano Company, where they may be secured until the evening of the concert.

Doctor's PRESCRIPTION when system is sluggish; costs nothing to try

When your bowels need help, the mildest thing that will do the work is always the sensible choice. Take a laxative that a family doctor has used for all sorts of cases of chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is so pleasant to the taste, so gentle in its action, it is given children of tender age and yet it is just as thorough and effective as stronger preparations. Pure senna, and harmless laxative herbs; ingredients that start a gentle muscular action. Avoid a coated tongue, laden breath, bilious headaches, etc. Every drug store has Dr. Caldwell's famous prescription in big bottles. Or just write Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Monticello, Ill., for a free trial bottle.

Art Department Of Woman's Club To Meet Today

At the meeting of the art department of the Atlanta Woman's Club this afternoon at 3 o'clock Lloyd Wilhoit, prominent Atlantian, will speak on the subject of "Art in Advertising." Mrs. Robert Blackburn, well-known Atlanta writer, poet and reader, will give several of her readings. She presents the most amusing and interesting readings in negro dialect, and reads many of her original sketches.

Mrs. W. F. Felton is chairman of the art committee and she will preside at the meeting, which will be held in the palm room of the club. A business session will precede the program to perfect arrangements for the exhibit which the art department holds Monday afternoon, April 14, with the fine arts department in charge of the program at the club meeting. Members are invited to attend, and any member who has done work of an artistic nature, willing to lend it to the department, is asked to do so for this exhibit.

Miss Dorothy Dobbs Entertains Visitor.

Miss Dorothy Dobbs was hostess at a luncheon Monday at the Druid Hills Golf Club complimenting Miss Nancy Frederick and her guest, Miss Horstense Hostetter.

The guests included Miss Frederick, Miss Hostetter, Miss Myrtle Coker, Miss Jane King, Miss Sara Sharpe, Miss Clara Jones, Miss Catherine Harris, Miss Jaquelin Moore, Miss Catherine West, Miss Ruth Miller, Miss Hazel Stamps, Mrs. W. G. Hull, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Howard Dobbs, Jr.; Miss Mary McCord, Miss Vaughn Nixon, Miss Josephine Crawford and Miss Dobbs.

Y.W.C.A. Girl Reserves To Sponsor Exhibit.

The Y. W. C. A. Girl Reserves will sponsor the collection of Mexican arts and crafts sent to the United States by children of Mexico, having been received in Atlanta yesterday.

It comprises an ornamental cabinet filled with pottery, basketry, puppets and other interesting things characteristic of Mexico. The acceptance service takes place Friday afternoon, April 11, at 3 o'clock at 37 Auburn avenue, and Mrs. R. E. Day is chairman of the exhibit, with Mrs. Calvin Prescott, committee chairman. Miss Daisy Hoover is chairman of the Girl Reserves, and invitation is extended to every school boy and girl in Atlanta and its environs to attend the ceremony. The gift is suggestive of the international friendship program promoted by the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. A. L. Wilkins To Be Honored.

Mrs. A. L. Wilkins, of Eastman, the guest of Mrs. Harry W. Callaway at her home on Twenty-sixth street, will be honor guest Wednesday at a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Callaway at the Atlanta Athletic club. The guests will include eight close friends of the hostess and honor guest. Mrs. Wilkins is well known in Atlanta, being prominently identified with D. A. R. work in the state of Georgia.

Athletic Club Dinner-Dance.

A dinner-dance was held at the Atlanta Athletic Club Saturday. Among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hartney, who had in their party Mr. and Mrs. John Bathumley, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkerson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. William Doak, Mrs. Stella Cunningham, Miss Dorothy Morrison and Miss Honora Hanna. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hodges entertained Mrs. Nic Mulih, Miss Lou Storey, C. H. Shepherd and C. E. Becknett. Mr. and Mrs. Cal Fitch entertained Miss Talma Merritt and T. H. Stevens. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Davis, Jr., Carlton Reen, Paul Burt.

Ernest Hartsock To Speak Today.

Ernest Hartsock will be special guest and speaker at the meeting of the Exchange Club today at the Piedmont hotel at 12:30 o'clock. Mr. Hartsock will discuss literature of all types and its use for the pleasure and benefit of the layman. An interesting phase of his discussion will relate to types of poetry which may be enjoyed as a means of relaxation. Mr. Hartsock is himself a nationally known poet and publisher as well as professor of poetics at Oglethorpe University. Musical entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. Catherine Key, violinist and vocalist, who has often been heard over WSB. A group of recently elected new members of Exchange will be officially welcomed.

Miss Kathryn Maier Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Wilmer Kimberly was hostess recently at a bridge-shower at her home in Sylvan Hills complimenting Miss Kathryn Maier, whose marriage to Frank Jamison will be solemnized in the early part of April. The house was decorated with sweet peas, carnations and narcissi. Following the bridge game, luncheon was served at individual tables, and a wagon filled with gifts for the prospective bride was rolled into the room, presenting an interesting feature of the occasion.

Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Meet.

The Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Club met last Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Mildred McFall on Briarcliff road. The recent visit of Mrs. Guy Heimer, of Knoxville, Tenn., president of Beta province, and plans for obtaining a charter for the group were discussed. A committee was appointed to work out details for financing a chartered chapter and their report will be given at the next meeting. Following the business session bridge was enjoyed. Those present were the officers of the club, who are Mrs. Richard R. Berry, president; Miss Dorothy Stribling, vice president; Mrs. Dana Paden, secretary; Mrs. J. V. Potts, treasurer, and Mrs. W. H. ## No More Cold Creams

No More Skin Foods or Astringents This New Way

The four fundamentals of skin care are condensed into a single, 3-minute application.

A Scientific Discovery that Condenses a Complete Professional Facial Into a Single Application, Taking Less Than 3 Minutes, That Combine the 4 Fundamentals in Skin Care Urged by Experts!

What It Is

It is called Lady Esther Four-Purpose Cream. And it marks the application of totally new principles in skin care as defined by the most recent scientific findings of ablest specialists in the field of beauty culture.

Each application has four distinct actions on the skin.

Cleansing action that cleanses the pores. And thus ends the use of an ordinary cleansing cream.

Tissue stimulating action that invigorates the deep tissues of the skin. And thus ends the use of a special "skin food."

Astringent action that eradicates worry, strain and premature aging lines, refines pores. And thus makes the use of youth creams and astringents a folly.

Softening action that forms a perfect base for powder. And thus banishes the need of a powder base.

Thus the four fundamentals of skin care are condensed into a single, 3-minute application.

Age lines soon go under this daily

How to Obtain

It is on sale under the name of Lady Esther at all Jacobs Drug Stores at 75c and $1.25 a jar. Or, if you wish to avoid delay, you may order by mail, using coupon below. Cream will be mailed postpaid in plain package.

Portraits of Children To Be Shown At Pre-View Today at High Museum

Marking the formal opening of the exhibition of 20 portraits of children by Camilla Whitehurst, of Baltimore, Md., distinguished American artist, the Beaux Arts group of the High Museum of Art will entertain at a reception from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at the museum. The tea is given particularly to members of the Atlanta Art Association and it is hoped that a large number will attend the preview. Mrs. John K. Otley and Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee, of Marietta, who is in Atlanta in the interest of her work, will remain in the city for several weeks. The exhibition will be on view through Tuesday, April 15. The show of Miss Whitehurst, who has won a reputation as a painter of children, includes some of the best examples of the artist's work. Her grasp of the personality and nature of her sitters as well as a remarkable mastery of technique, manifested to a marked degree in these pictures, has placed Miss Whitehurst in the forefront of American artists.

Miss Whitehurst, who was born in Baltimore, Md., where she now makes her home, is a pupil of William Chase and Cecilia Veaux, noted artists. She has received fellowships from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors, and the Grand Central Art Galleries. She received a first prize in the all-southern exhibition held at Charleston in 1921; honorable mention from the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1920; an award at the Delgado academy exhibition in 1923; second prize from the National Academy of Women Painters and Sculptors in 1923; a bronze medal from the Washington Society of Artists. Her work on exhibition at the Delgado museum, New Orleans, La.

Mrs. Hobby Honors Wesleyan Alumnae.

Mrs. A. Worth Hobby, chairman of Group No. 1 of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Association, entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at her new home, 1032 Amsterdam avenue, in honor of the members of her group. Mrs. Florrie C. White, who for the past 20 years has been the beloved matron of Wesleyan, and Mrs. J. B. McNelly, general group chairman of the Atlanta association, were special guests of honor.

Miss Louise Beckham, who is spending the spring holidays in Atlanta, extended a cordial invitation from the college and student body to all alumnae to "come back to college" for four days, April 7, 8, 9, 10, when Alumnae College Week will be inaugurated at Wesleyan. This year the S. R. Bell lectures will be delivered by Dr. Frank S. Hickman, of Duke University, on "Christian Vocation." In addition to these, members of the Wesleyan faculty have prepared lectures in their fields that will be of special interest. The alumnae will be entertained as guests of the college and several from Atlanta are planning to attend.

Mrs. McNelly exhibited the beautiful loving cup which is presented each year to the group contributing the most outstanding work for Wesleyan and encouraged Group No. 1 to exert every effort to win the cup this time. Mrs. Hobby appointed the following to serve in various committees to arrange club activities for the next two months: Mrs. A. M. Roan, Mrs. H. H. Ware, Jr., Mrs. Travis Stephenson, Mrs. H. E. McPherson, Miss Dorothy Brogden, Miss Allie Stephens, Miss Merrill McMichael, Miss Margaret Richards, Mrs. L. M. Roberts, Mrs. N. W. Gibson, Mrs. Kirby Jones, Others will be notified later by telephone. Mrs. Mildred Shelton Stokes gave an inspiring reading, "The Bridge Builder." Due to the fact that the last Saturday in April is Memorial Day and many Atlantans will be out of town, the regular meeting has been moved to April 19, the place to be announced later. Those present were Mrs. White, Mrs. McNelly, Mrs. P. C. Sherrill, Jr., Mrs. L. M. Roberts, Mrs. M. H. Davis, Mrs. Kirby Jones, Mrs. Clyde Kennedy, Mrs. David O. Thomson, Mrs. E. H. Rice, Miss Mildred Gower, Miss Margaret Eberhart, Mrs. Travis Stephenson, Mrs. N. W. Gibson, Mrs. Fielding Dillard, Mrs.

Mildred Shelton Stokes, Miss Mary Lou Barnwell, Miss Merrill McMichael, Miss Margaret Richards, Miss Louise Beckham, Miss Witherspoon, Miss Josephine Humphries and Mrs. Hobby. Mrs. Hobby was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. E. H. Rice, Miss Margaret Richards and Mrs. Travis Stephenson.

Miss Mary Ruth Senter, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Samuel T. Senter, has been made editor-in-chief of the Wesleyan, monthly literary magazine of Wesleyan college, Macon. Miss Senter is well known here, her father being pastor of the First Methodist church of this city. She is now spending the spring holidays with her parents at their home on Seventh street.

Miss McLean Is Honor Guest.

Miss Eugenia McLean, of Lumberton, N. C., who arrived Sunday to be the guest of Miss Kitty Butner at her home on Wakefield drive, is being honored at a number of delightful parties. Mrs. James Butner will keep "open house" Tuesday evening at her home complimenting her daughter and her guest. Assisting in the entertainment of the guests, who will number 100, will be Misses Kitty and Effie Butner, nieces of the hostess. Miss McLean will be the central figure Thursday evening at the dinner-dance at which Mrs. J. L. Holloway will entertain at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. Mrs. J. A. Chapman will be hostess at a bridge-supper Friday evening at her home on Collier road, honoring this popular North Carolina visitor.

"WHAT BRINGS ADMIRATION?"

Famous screen stars say: "Lovely Skin"

"Nothing attracts people as instantly and surely as smooth lovely skin," say 45 leading Hollywood directors. The famous screen stars agree for they have found that beautiful skin is the first essential for stardom.

To pass the pitiless lens of the close-up, a star's skin must be flawless, smooth, and beautiful. It is then that 9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap to keep their skin in the perfect condition the close-up demands.

Blanche Sweet's great popularity on the screen is due in part to her exquisite skin. She says: "My first thought is always my skin for the close-up is all-revealing. Lux Toilet Soap leaves my skin velvety smooth."

Greta Nissen's unbelievably lovely skin is like a white rose in moonlight. She says: "Lux Toilet Soap makes my skin wonderfully soft."

Fiquant Vera Reynolds says: "A star has to have the smoothest skin in the world to pass the close-up. Lux Toilet Soap keeps mine like satin." You, too, will enjoy Lux Toilet Soap. Luxurious as fine French soaps at 50¢ and $1.00 the cake yet only 10¢.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Maddox To Honor Mr., Mrs. Little's Guests

Among the first parties to be announced for Atlanta's 1930 grand opera season is the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox entertain at their home, Woodhaven, on Pace's Ferry road, Wednesday evening, April 30, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Britten, of Washington, D. C., prominent members of society in the national capital.

Washington Seminary Notes of Interest.

Members of the Washington Seminary basketball team have been honored at a number of affairs during the past week. Miss Lydia Hoke entertained the varsity team after the game with North Avenue, recently, and Miss Elizabeth Mitchell was hostess at a banquet at the Piedmont Driving club. The flowers and candles used were blue and gold, the colors of the school.

This affair will be one of a large number of social gayeties preceding the premiere presentation of "Louise," which opens the Metropolitan opera season of 1930. Parties galore are being planned by members of Atlanta society for grand opera week at which prominent visitors from the entire south who will be here for the opera performances will be honor guests.

classmates of Washington seminary Friday afternoon at her home at Niskey Lake. The party was in the form of a treasure hunt. Miss Elizabeth Clay found the treasure, a beautiful jewel box with a ring, bracelet and pin.

The younger pupils of Miss Julia Eckford were heard in a morning piano recital recently. Miss Eckford played the accompaniments to the lot of the young performers, using a second piano with an interesting effect. Those playing were Manana Adair, Mary Cushman, Jane Brooks and Marjorie Hames.

Hoover Signs Public Buildings Measure

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(UN)—A nationwide public building program nearly as expensive as the Panama canal was given final governmental sanction today when President Hoover signed the Keyes-Elliott bill increasing the authorization of public buildings by $230,000,000. The present public building program, enacted a few years ago, provided $115,000,000.

It is up to the treasury secretary and congress now to decide how the money is to be spent. Hundreds of new and enlarged postoffices and other government buildings will be constructed over the country, and the central government here, now largely housed in rented and temporary buildings, will be given great handsome homes to be built in a definite scheme of beautifying the capital.

Half of the added $230,000,000 will be spent in the District of Columbia and half outside. President Hoover and congress urged and approved the

Clear, Warmer Weather Brings April in Today

Fair and warmer weather is scheduled to usher in the month of April today in this immediate vicinity, according to the latest forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist. Monday saw a temperature range from 41 up to 60, and to-day extremes are expected to be in the neighborhood of 45 and 65 with the sun doing full-time duty.

Looking back over the stormy month of March Monday afternoon, Mr. von Herrmann took a casual glance at his mass of statistics and announced that the temperature during the preceding 31 days had averaged just about two degrees a day below the normal figure of 56, while the rainfall also was slightly below normal with 4.4 inches, against a normal of 5.30 inches. The official mercury did all its crotcheting between the figures of 30 degrees, reached March 21, and 21 degrees, reached March 23. Neither of these came exceptionally close to a record of any kind, he stated.

Junior League Jottings

BY MRS. REGINALD SCOTT FLEET, Editor

The April meeting of the Atlanta Junior League will be held this afternoon in the ballroom of the Piedmont Driving Club at 3 o'clock. This is one of the most important meetings of the year. The annual elections for officers and the executive board of the league will be held. Mrs. Edgar Upton, chairman of the nominating committee, will read her report. Nominations from the floor will be heard and the members will vote upon the names presented.

At the meeting of the executive board on Wednesday it was voted to permit the members of the league to vote for a delegate to the national conference in New York. The delegates to the conference are the incoming president and one member of the present executive board. Hereafter it has been the custom of the board to elect one of its members to represent the league, but this year a list of the members of the board will be given to each member of this meeting, one name on the list to be selected.

A committee has been appointed by Mrs. John Knox, the president, to investigate and make a report upon, at this meeting, the question of the retirement of members after a certain period of Junior League activity. Mrs. Henry Troutman is the chairman of the committee. Mrs. John Knox, ex-officio, the committee being composed of Mrs. Lawrence Willett, Mrs. Charles Palmer, Mrs. Robert Troutman and Miss Palmer Delle. This group met on Friday morning for a full discussion of the matter of retirement and it is expected that Mrs. Troutman's report will be of great interest to all the members.

The chairman of the various committees will read reports on the tea room, the hospital, the magazine and the financial status of the league.

The April issue of the Junior League magazine is one of the most interesting and attractive numbers which has been issued this year. The magazine is devoted entirely to the subject of legends. From blue cover which is particularly pleasing to the eye, to the very last page, the magazine is well worth reading.

Atlanta was represented in the magazine a number of times and represented very well indeed. Mrs. Turner Jones had a very clever satirical sketch accepted for this issue entitled "Leger Drake." In play form she presented an amusing potential legend for the year 2080 A. D. Among the boy reviews one found a short well-worded review of "The Love of Jeannette" by Mrs. Lawrence Willett. Four black and white drawings by Mrs. Preston Stevens were used to illustrate various articles. With the "Legends" written by Mrs. Rutherford Ellis, the magazine editor for Atlanta, the Atlanta Junior League had an unusual number of things accepted for one issue.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PADDY THE BEAVER GETS PRICKED.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

In passing judgment have a card to be in every way quite fair.

Paddy the Beaver had given a little sign of relief that Paddy the Beaver had started on his way again. Paddy had somehow felt uneasy with Prickly Porky on the roof of his house. He didn't know why he had felt uneasy, but he just had. Perhaps it was because he couldn't get away from the feeling that Prickly Porky with his thousand little spurs would be a most uncomfortable neighbor to have about; and therefore he didn't even want Prickly Porky on the roof of his house.

As soon as Prickly Porky was well on his way toward the shore, Paddy and Mrs. Paddy swam to their house and climbed up on the roof. It was partly in order to watch Prickly Porky and it was partly in order to see that he had done no damage while resting on the roof.

"Just look at that fellow!" said Paddy. "He certainly isn't much of a swimmer. I could swim circles around him. But he keeps right up at it and he gets there after a while. He is one of our neighbors in the Green Forest with whom I never feel acquainted."

"I don't believe anybody else does either," replied Mrs. Paddy. "Certainly, he doesn't seem to have any friends."

"Perhaps that is because he doesn't want any," said Paddy. "He certainly hasn't a friendly disposition. I really cannot imagine any one being friendly with him."

Mrs. Paddy chuckled. "I shouldn't want to have what you would call a close friendship with him," said she. Paddy grinned. "He has been about as close as I should care to have him," said he. "Ouch!"

Mrs. Paddy looked up quickly. "What is the matter with you?" she demanded.

"I pricked one paw on something sharp," replied Paddy, and held up his right paw. There was something hanging on it.

"What is it?" asked Mrs. Paddy.

Paddy took it in his teeth and started to pull it out, but he let go and cried, "Ouch!" again. "That thing hadn't pulled out as easily as he thought it would," Mrs. Paddy moved over for a better look. "Humph!" she exclaimed. "You are making a closer acquaintance with Prickly Porky than you thought for."

"What do you mean?" asked Paddy. "Dile, you know what that thing is sticking in your paw? It is one of Prickly Porky's little spurs. He must have shaken it out of his coat when he was on the roof here."

Paddy looked more closely and saw that Mrs. Paddy was right. It was one of Prickly Porky's quills and it had made his paw ache. In fact, the thing made his paw ache. Once more Paddy seized it in his teeth and gave a sharp, hard, quick pull. Then he cried, "Ouch!" again. However, that quill was out. His paw was very sore, but the quill was out and he knew that that was a good thing.

Then he and Mrs. Paddy began a careful search all over that roof. They found three or four other quills and carefully removed them. You see, they didn't want to step on another. "I think," said Paddy crossly, "that the least Prickly Porky can do is to keep his little spurs. We let him use our roof to rest on and this is the way he repays us."

"What is it?" asked Paddy.

This, of course, wasn't quite fair, for Prickly Porky hadn't intentionally left his little spurs behind.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

BY DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

Williamsport, Pa. I have just been reading the Westminster Confession of Faith, the official creed of the Presbyterian church. It affirms the sin of all men in Adam; infant damnation; the absolute foreordination of all events; physical resurrection, and eternal torment. Is it possible that these things are still sincerely believed?

It is impossible to state to what extent all the articles of this official creed are accepted by its nominal adherents. Doubtless, untold numbers of them repudiate some of them as heartily as you do. Let us suppose, however, that the Westminster Confession is the inheritance of a bygone time, and in no sense a modern formula.

It is also in numerous respects a dead letter, retained for historical and legal reasons rather than as an adequate presentation of the beliefs of our Presbyterian brethren. If you would know what they believe, study their great church and its honorable work in the world as it exists here and now. That church is the center of racial, brotherhood, philanthropy, of all humanizing reforms and movements. Its members contain some of the noblest benefactors of mankind. Its golden roll of saints, missionaries, scholars and heroes is unexcelled in the annals of contemporary Christianity or Judaism.

So far as children of saints, consider the educational and charitable activities of the church you name. In regard to predestination, consider again its strenuous and earnest efforts to advance those who are in bondage to sin. Believe God would approve. I have not yet found a church which was not infinitely better in practice than some of its doctrinal theories suggest. Where the Spirit of Christ is there is liberty, and the communion you name has great liberty in its prophecy and in its deeds.

Roanoke, Va. Would you say that the Christian teaching of the God of love is superior to the Jewish teaching of a God of justice?

The Jewish teaching of a God of justice and righteousness is very often expressed in terms which include His love in His justice. Hence, there is much of inestimable value in the Old Testament view of God. Holiness, mercy and pity abound in its prophetic descriptions of the Divine Being. The psalmist rose to the heights of a visioned faith when he declared, "Like a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear Him" (Psalm 103:13).

While the Old Testament view of God was conceived in somewhat national terms, even among the major prophets transcended all human limitations to proclaim God as the Deliverer of every believing soul. The universality of God's holy passion for mankind found its fullest utterance in Jesus, who revealed the Everlasting Father of innumerable spirits and pardoning grace through the response of men to love and filial trust in Him. That manifestation of God sublimated all previous revelations of Himself, and His sacrificial love for the salvation of mankind found concrete expression in the Cross of Christ.

The love of God is therefore inclusive of all who believe in Him, and His love is the highest moments of inspired experience. The supplementary essence of the New Testament is well stated by St. Paul: "God commendeth His own love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Romans 5:8).

It is not necessary to accept any theories of the atonement in order to appreciate its salvific meanings for mankind. The testimony of the glorious fact of that "love divine all love excelling," which has found its earthly outlet in lives dedicated to works of charity, purification and peace. Read the Christian's apprehension of God, by H. R. Mackintosh, in which the various phases of this subject are discussed in a comprehensive and informing way.

Do you believe the statements made about David Livingston by Trader Horn in his book? No; neither does any intelligent person who knows Livingston's illustrious career. Nor would I publish your question or call attention to such a palpably untrue statement if its denial did not afford an opportunity to emphasize the great missionary explorer's noble character and service.

Read the latest "Life" of Livingston by Reginald J. Campbell. It is an impartial and well balanced study of one of the greatest heroes of Christian annals. The high romance of this historic career, its thrilling adventures, its complete sincerity, its amazing sacrifice, will enable you to know what manner of man Livingston was. His moral grandeur and spiritual force were unequalled in his generation.

He revolutionized the ideal of missionary enterprise and followed with unwavering fidelity a course he had mapped out of his own experience, despite the opposition of his contemporaries. He lived his life for the sake of that course, though incredible hardships attended it, and his beloved wife, Mary Moffat, died and was buried in the African desert. Later on, he died there himself, literally worn out by his toils and privations.

WE FELT RELIEVED TO KNOW THAT WE WERE NOT ALONE IN OUR UNDERGROUND PRISON, WHEN WE SAW THAT HOLE IN THE WALL AND THE LITTLE GIRL'S FACE PEERING THROUGH AT US. SHE WAS LINK'S FRIEND. SHE HAD NEVER SEEN ME.

"SHE EXCLAIMED, CATCHING SIGHT OF ME, 'THERE'S ANOTHER BOY IN THERE WITH YOU.' 'YES,' SAID LINK, 'BUT HE IS MY BEST FRIEND, HIS NAME IS SECKATARY HAWKINS. HE IS GOING TO HELP ME GET OUT OF HERE.'"

THE GIRL DID NOT SEEM TO HEAR. SHE HAD TURNED HER HEAD—WAS GLAZING BACK INTO HER CELL. SUDDENLY SHE TURNED TO FACE US AGAIN—'LISTEN!' SHE WHISPERED, 'IT'S WATER—DRIPPING—WATER IS COMING INTO MY CELL!'

WE ALL LISTENED. BY JOVE—IN OUR CELL, TOO—WATER WAS COMING IN, FROM SOMEWHERE! I COULD HEAR IT TRICKLING DOWN THE WALL, AND LOOKING UP, I SAW THE DULL GLARE OF THE LAMP REFLECTED ON THE GLEISTENING WALL!

Crackers Play Reds Here Today in First Major Game

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the blow-torch of baseball, the greatest competitor the diamond has ever seen, a merciless foe with bat and ball, is an "Old Woman" in the game of golf.

Tyrus gets licked right along by golfers no better than he is because he cannot bear down and press his advantage. The relentless spirit that characterized his ball playing eludes him when he steps on the tee.

Cobb made a clean breast of his golfing problem when talking with Clarence Hackney and several other pros. And the confession was made with a sort of helpless shame.

TY EXPLAINS HIS GOLF.

"No matter how good I get at this game of golf," Ty declared, "I do not believe I ever will win many matches. When I get two up on my opponent I ease down. I kind of feel sorry for him. Before I know it he has squared the match. Then I tighten up and begin missing shots right and left. It was easy to keep fighting in baseball. It was second nature to go out after the other side in the first inning and keep the pressure on for the whole game. But golf has got me buffaloed. I can't seem to get mean enough."

Cobb's attitude toward golf, which he has taken up seriously since retiring from baseball, is not hard to explain. The contrast between baseball and golf in point of violence is sharp. Baseball is a game of shocks and strains and sudden bursts of physical exertion.

Golf is a series of delicately timed blows, some as finely balanced as a feat with a fencing foil. Golf seems kindly and gentle after the boisterous clashes of the diamond.

In other words, a man nurtured on the rough diet of baseball cannot take golf seriously as a competitive diet. It always will seem just a game and not a battle to him.

Golf demands courage and determination, but the shocks of the game are mental, hence it is elusive to a man who is used to raw physical problems.

A GREAT SHOT.

Grantland Rice, however, tells a tale of a shot made recently by Cobb in a friendly foursome that Varden or Jones or Hagen never would have attempted and probably never could have made. It was a shot that saved a hole for Cobb's side, too.

Ty's drive was flubbed and came to rest in a brook. The ball was half under water, among pebbles.

Ty saw that his partner was in trouble and the other side had good balls well down the middle.

"Well, I guess I'd better get this one up there around the green," Ty confided to his partner. "I can't put in any worse fix if I miss it."

Cobb took a brassie, waded into the brook and banged away. Out of a shower of water and pebbles the ball rose and whistled to the edge of the green, nearly 200 yards away.

So with such an ability to rise to the occasion maybe Cobb is not doomed to be an old woman at golf all his life.

HOW TY CONQUERED WALTER.

How Cobb finally managed to conquer his own mental hazard against Walter Johnson is a story that illustrates the great competitive spirit of Cobb and the importance he attached to the psychological side of baseball. It also is recital of a long duel between the fastest, cleverest pitcher the game has known and the greatest batsman.

"For years I was afraid Walter Johnson would hit me with that fast ball," Cobb says. "Every time I came to the plate I was thinking about what would happen if that ball hit me in the head. Naturally I pulled away just a bit and never could time a blow just right. The years went on and Johnson had me down. I could not hit him for fear of getting hit myself."

"One day in 1916 I was batting against Johnson and suddenly I got mad at myself for being such a fool. I decided that I might as well let him hit me and get it over with. I crowded up on top of the plate and leaned over as if to dare him to bounce one off my head."

JOHNSON'S WEAKNESS.

"Now Walter Johnson had one weakness. He always was afraid of hitting a batter. He was a fine character and kindly. It was his great fear that one day he would hit a batsman in the head and kill him."

"So when I crowded up on the plate Walter began breaking them outside. He slowed down in his speed some. First thing I knew I had him in a hole, three balls and no strikes. I stepped back and hit the next one a mile."

"That year I must have batted 700 against Johnson. I had found out how to throw him off stride. I played his weakness, which happened to be his kindness of heart and had him in a hole all season against me. And as long as I was in baseball I never had as much trouble against Johnson as against some of the others."

Cracker Stars Address Amateurs

A packed house greeted Dick Burrows and J. C. "Red" Oldham, speakers for the fourth series of the "Baseball Educational Talks" sponsored by the Y-Church Athletic Association Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. Burrows gave the boys many pointers on the proper way to play first base, while Oldham demonstrated the best pitching methods.

Although the Atlanta Crackers are away from Atlanta next Monday night, when the fifth series of talks is scheduled, the officers hope to have another member of the team to appear but are certain to have some able speaker to cover another diamond position, should none of the Crackers be available.

At the conclusion of these talks the work of league organization started and the following churches entered teams: Mary Brennan Methodist, Orchard Knob Baptist, Second Baptist, of College Park, and Mount Zion Baptist, completing the roster of the Piedmont league and leaving but one opening in the Georgia league, which now has five entries, and this league will open on April 12 along with the others. Any team wishing a place in this league can secure same by applying to Major Scott Trammell, 66 North Broad street, not later than Thursday.

Tech Fraternities In Semi-Finals

Semi-final games in the Georgia Tech interfraternity basketball tournament, originally scheduled for last Thursday but postponed because of the boxing tourney, will be played in the gym at the Flats tonight.

Delta Tau Delta meets Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the first game at 7 o'clock, while Delta Sigma Phi and Phi Delta Theta clash in the closing fray at 8 o'clock.

The Delta Sigs won the last year's title. Both were seeded at the head of their brackets this year and have waded through according to expectations.

The tournament finals are scheduled for Thursday night.

Goldman Contender For Shortstop Post

NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—(AP)—Jonah Goldman has made himself a most serious contender for the Cleveland Indians' shortstop job. Continuing his fine fielding in yesterday's victory over New Orleans, Goldman handled 10 chances without a blemish and in addition was the only Indian to collect two hits.

By Dillon Graham,

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—(AP)—Showing perfect fitness for the first two rounds of the $5,000 southeastern open golf tournament here, Bobby Jones tonight led the field of nearly 100 amateurs and professionals with 144 and showed a four-stroke lead over his rival, Horton Smith.

It was the second meeting of the year for Jones and Smith. A gallery of 2,000 followed them through two rounds over the difficult par 72 Hill course at the Country Club. Smith beat the Atlanta golfing barometer by one stroke in their battle at Savannah last February.

Had "Calamity Jones" been functioning smoothly, Jones would have had an even greater lead over the field. With few exceptions his drives were long and straight and his approach shots were true, but he missed more than a dozen putts of varying distances. On one hole he was forced to use three putts before he could find the cup. Tied for fourth place at the end of the first round, Bobby started out badly for the first two holes in the afternoon, and then tightened up to show a brilliant golf throughout the rest of the day.

Sliced Drive. A sliced drive on the 10th and a misjudged putt on the same hole caused him to take a six, his only over-par score of the round after the wobbly start.

Smith, playing the course for the first time, was shot steadily for a morning round, but shot steadily for a 73 in the afternoon round.

Farrell, former national open champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Tom Kerrigan, first round, N. Y. pro, who led the first round with a 70, were tied for second place at the end of the day, three strokes behind Jones. Except for a bad eighth hole, 15th hole of the second round, Farrell might have tied Jones for the lead.

Smith's fourth. Smith's fourth, with 148 for his efforts, while Joe Turnesa, young Elmsford, N. Y. pro, 150, three strokes further away with 153. Three veterans, including Ed Dudley, of Wilmington, Del.; Whitney Cox, of Brooklyn, and Tony Manero, of Elmsford, N. Y., had cards of 152. Billy Burke, of Greenwich, Conn., and Frank Walsh, of Chicago, posted 158. Gene Sarazen, who shot a great par during this morning, took 82 strokes during the afternoon and found himself far to the rear.

Picking up their battle where they left off in Savannah, Bobby Jones and Smith thrilled the largest gallery of the day when they met on the 18th against the hazards of the heavily wooded and well trapped layout. Jones started out the lead on the first hole as Horton landed a second shot on the green, holding out with two putts while the young pro needed a hole-in-one. Jones sank a 20-foot putt on the second hole to lead on the stroke. Smith won the third with his par four, while Bobby needed five after sending his second shot to the right. Horton was ahead on the ninth as Jones was ahead on the ninth as Horton missed a short putt for a par four and wound up with a five, while Jones was matching standard strokes for the hole.

Both Smith and Jones needed six after landing in a trap and missing a short putt for a par four on the sixth as Horton missed a short putt for a par four and wound up with a five, while Jones was matching standard strokes for the hole.

Reds Play Here Today; Dobbs Shifts Outfield

Brennan and Oldham Will Pitch Today; Waivers Asked on 16 Yannigans.

By Ralph McGill.

Despite the fact that the city hall has definitely committed itself against the presence of Reds in the city, Dan Howley will bring his National League Cincinnati Reds into town this afternoon for the first of two games with the Crackers. The Reds are the first major league foe of the year.

The game will get away at 3 o'clock with Don Brennan and Red Oldham scheduled to be out on the rubber for the Crackers. Dan Howley's selection is unknown but John (Red) Lucas, one of the best right-handers in the game, is expected to be on the mound in one of the games.

Johnny Dobbs made a shift in his team yesterday for the Yannigan game, one that he has been considering for some time. He shifted Elton Langford to center field and put Ed Brown, the Big End Man, over in left.

It was a rather curious coincidence that all three outfielders who reported to the Crackers this spring were center fielders by trade. Dobbs shifted with Brown in center, but started him in left yesterday.

The new arrangement, which will get another trial this afternoon against the Reds, strengthens the outfield. Brown's arm, while good enough, will be better for the shorter throws he will get in left field. Langford, now at center, has a great arm. He made a throw from deep right center to third base yesterday that was a remarkable exhibition of arm power.

BEAT YANNIGANS. The Crackers prepared for the Reds yesterday afternoon by smashing the Yannigan record of no defeats. The Yannigans dated their record from the time the Regulars left the training camp at Douglas. They smashed into Ernie Koob, the left-handed man, yesterday and led the Regulars right on to the seventh inning when the big bats broke through on Bill Griffith's pitching and got in three tallies to win, 8 to 6.

The Yannigans did not seem to be one whit dismayed by the fact that 14 of them had discovered the fact that waivers had been asked on them. They whacked away at the baseball with much old-fashioned vim and one of them, Ed McGhee, made things very painful indeed with two doubles and a triple.

WAIVERS ASKED. Waivers were asked on 16 players yesterday afternoon at the Atlanta Cracker office. Two of them are requested on Third Sport Page.

DON IS HALTED BY CAR, BEACH

British Ace Tries To Make Run; Plans Attempt Today.

By Ted Gills.

OCEAN SPRINGWAY, DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 31.—(AP)—Motor trouble and a rough beach combined today to thwart the attempt of Kaye Don, veteran British race car driver, to shatter the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour over the wave-lapped ocean speedway here.

Despite advice from officials that the course was not in condition for a record-breaking attempt, Don sent his giant 24-cylinder Silver Bullet racer roaring over the beach six times, but the highest speed he was able to attain was 186 miles an hour.

MOTOR TROUBLE. After his first three runs, made at a fairly rapid clip, carburetion trouble developed and the remainder of his trials were slow. The fastest speed he was able to attain after the motor trouble developed was 149.

Upon completing his trials, Don towed the machine direct to the garage and set a crew of mechanics to work adjusting the difficulties. He said that if the repairs were completed by tomorrow and the beach was in good condition, he would renew his attempts then. Low tide tomorrow occurs about 3:15, but he probably would be able to make trials an hour or an hour and a half before that time.

In the face of warnings that the beach was not in condition for a record-breaking attempt, Don sent his machine bouncing along the course at a speed of 178 miles an hour on his first trial today and then came back at 180, in the second trial, later at 186. Despite the rough beach, Don apparently had little difficulty in keeping the giant car under control, but the tinkering with the reason his machine rode the bumps so well was because of the long wheelbase, which measures 16 feet, 5 inches.

ADJUSTS CAR. When he had completed his third run, Don made several adjustments to the air intake valves on the supercharger in an effort to obtain better carburetion. He said that the gasoline mixture was satisfactory up to speeds of approximately 150 miles an hour, but while traveling faster than that he had not been able to get the proper carburetion.

Don admitted after his first three runs that the beach was in no condition for a record-breaking attempt, but said he wanted to make additional trials in an effort to learn just what adjustments were necessary to obtain the most perfect combustion.

After making the first adjustments, Don raced across the course on the exhaust pipes and a cloud of black smoke rolled out from the rear of the machine, indicating that the gasoline mixture was too rich.

Don said he hoped to make the proper adjustments by tomorrow and if the beach is in good condition then, he expects to make his record-breaking attempt then.

When the motor trouble developed loud explosions could be heard in the exhaust pipes and a cloud of black and blue smoke rolled out from the rear of the machine, indicating that the gasoline mixture was too rich.

Holdout Goslin Loosening Up

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 31.—(UN)—First signs of a loosening in the deadlock between Goslin, holdout outfielder, and Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, appeared today when Goslin told newspapermen on long distance phone that he intended to confer with Griffith at Washington this week-end.

When apprised of this, Griffith said the club would supply Goslin with transportation to and from Chattanooga if he desired to come to camp and discuss his contract.

The Senators will resume their exhibition series tomorrow, meeting the Lookouts in the first of a two-game series. Sam Jones and Garland Braxton are scheduled to pitch.

Miss Orcutt Leads Field at Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N. C., March 31.—(AP)—Miss Maureen Orcutt, hard driving Haworth, N. J., star, stroked her way over the hilly No. 3 Pinehurst Country club course today to show a pair of heels to the other 112 women in the qualifying round of the north and south women's amateur golf tournament.

She played consistently, hanging out a pair of 40s, for an 80 on the 18 hole trip today, which of the four country club courses today to show a pair of heels to the other 112 women in the qualifying round of the north and south women's amateur golf tournament.

Miss Glenna Collett, national champion and last year's winner of the north and south title, found the second nine difficult and after making a 38 on the outgoing jump was forced to take 44 strokes enroute home. Her 82 was good for third position, however.

The others were bunched closely behind and it was necessary to stage a playoff to decide which of the four country club courses today to show a pair of heels to the other 112 women in the qualifying round of the north and south women's amateur golf tournament.

Miss Honor Bright, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miss Helen Waring, of New York, were beaten in the playoff by Mrs. John Arends, of Chicago, and Mrs. J. M. Haynes.

The pairings for tomorrow's match play are as follows: Miss Fordyce plays Miss Abernethy, Mrs. Baker plays Miss Hicks, Miss Quier plays Miss Smith, Mrs. Harrison plays Miss Van Wier, Mrs. Federman plays Mrs. Lake, Mrs. Arends plays Miss Collett, Mrs. Hill plays Mrs. Haynes, Miss Wattles plays Miss Orcutt.

Darlington, T. H. S. Tennis Teams Tie

Darlington school's Tigers, from Rome, and the Smithies, of Tech High, fought to a 3-3 tie on the courts of the Atlanta Tennis Club Monday afternoon.

The match was slated for a decision, but went to a draw as the teams failed to reach an agreement as the method of playing off the tie.

Jimmy Halverstadt, Atlanta racket wielder, who is ranked third in the southern junior standings, led the Darlington attack with fine breaking and court-covering. He trounced Kiser, of Tech High, at 6-0, 6-0, in the No. 1 singles match, and teamed with Laferty to down Kiser and Street at 6-2, 6-0, in the doubles. Nixon won the other Darlington match as he turned in a 7-5, 6-1 victory over Fairley.

Bracewell, Smithie captain, turned in a very hard battle by scores of 7-5 and 6-4 in a close singles encounter and paired with English to win the other doubles match from Hoyt and Nixon in three hard sets at 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. English was carried three sets by Hoyt in the final singles match, but finally evened the day's score by winning at 6-3, 4-0, 6-5.

The two teams will meet in a return match in Rome later in the season.

GIRL SPRINTER WORKS OUT HERE

Miss Olive Kruger, Chattanooga, Has Extraordinary Track Record.

Miss Olive Kruger, Chattanooga's girl speedster of the tracks, paid the Cinderella at Grant field a fleeting visit Monday afternoon just to show the home folks what could be done by a member of the "weaker" sex.

Miss Kruger, who holds the 70-yard world's record for women, having covered the distance in an even seven seconds, has been making the rounds of the bigger meets since she started running some eight months ago. In that time she has compiled an extraordinary record of performances, having faced and downed many of the leading girl sprinters of the country.

At present she is training for the national women's outdoor track meet, which will be held at the Flats, she plans to meet Stella Walsh, Cleveland girl who is touted as the class of the feminine track performers. Olive and Stella fought a finish duel in New York recently, with the Buckeye girl coming home a bare six inches in front in a grilling drive. Olive wants to beat her.

Oliver will come back to the south following the women's championships, and will enter the Southeastern A. A. U. meet, slated for Grant field on April 26. The A. A. U. meet is to be held under the flood lights at night, which experience should be a new and novel one for all.

Oliver is visiting friends in Atlanta at the moment. She will leave this afternoon after another workout at the Flats. It is just possible that she may make Atlanta following the A. A. U. meet. Employment and sponsorship have been offered here, and Monday Oliver spoke favorably of the prospect.

Mooney Defeated At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—(UN)—The elimination of Jack Mooney, No. 2 ranking player in the south, by Cliff Sutter, Tulane University Southern conference champion, featured the opening matches in the New Orleans Country Club annual invitational tennis tourney here today.

Mooney, a seeded player, fell before the young collegian, 6-1, 6-2.

John Van Ryn, international star, and Frank Shields, won easy matches from local players.

Donald Cran, of Vanderbilt, eliminated Maurice Baron, Tulane No. 2 player, in a hard match, 6-4, 8-6.

Oglethorpe Opens Baseball Season With 7-to-3 Win Over Clemson

HOLCOMB HOLDS GUYON'S NINE TO FIVE HITS

Martin Hits Home Run for Petrels in Third Inning.

By Roy White.

Oglethorpe opened its 1930 baseball season Monday afternoon with a 7-to-3 victory over Clemson. It was the third straight defeat the visitors have received in Atlanta, Tech having won games Friday and Saturday.

Hood Holcomb, veteran Petrel right-hander was Coach Anderson's selection Monday and a wise one it proved to be. Holcomb allowed Joe Guyon's Tigers only five hits and struck out seven batters. One of the hits was a triple in the ninth inning, after Oglethorpe had a lead of five runs.

The Petrel ace was wild, but excellent support from his mates prevented nine walks from getting into the run column.

Parkins started for Clemson but was yanked in the fifth inning after Oglethorpe had scored five runs. Niven relieved him and fared much better, giving the Petrels only three hits in the four innings he worked.

Oglethorpe scored three runs in the second inning on Appling's double, Wall's walk, Gardner's double and Holcomb's single. Two more were added in the third on an error and Martin's home run.

Clemson scored in the fourth on two walks and Parkins' hit to third base. Another was added in the eighth, on Magill's single, an error, a walk and an infield out. The last Clemson run came in the ninth on Zeigler's triple and Hewitt's sacrifice fly to left field.

Oglethorpe's last two runs came in the sixth inning. Wall walked, Gardner singled to right, sending Wall to third. Kimbrell and Todd were easy outs and Holcomb scored Wall and Gardner with a long single to right field.

GOOD GOLF

There is one factor about the swing which we have been discussing this week which, I sincerely hope, may not disturb you too greatly—and that is, we have been talking about perfectly made swings.

This obviously implies that you avoid common lunging and whanging at the ball, and that you will know how to swing the club as the club, which means getting it away first from the top, the body following after; that your stance and grip and such are fairly correct. To accomplish that swing from the inside out, I might mention, take the club back inside the line, as the saying is, if you find that makes it easier for you. It is not bad form at all to do so—plenty do. And keep your right leg straight all the way forward.

Any knee-bending will be fatal. Swing with your arms, starting the arms directly downward from the top and meantime holding the body back an instant, until the club shoots first. Then it will keep in front of you, as it should. With such a swing, made wholly with the arms, you will soon see that any idea of hitting straight through, or presumably on a straight line through the ball and forward, would not be desirable.

Georgia will open its conference season with the Tarheels here Friday. The Georgians play their first out-of-town series with the Auburn Plainsmen in Auburn on April 11 and 12. A series with the Columbus Foxes is also pending for next week.

The Georgia track team, which Saturday sent the Furman Purple Hurricane home on the losing end of a 90-36 score, will come up against its first real opposition of the season here tomorrow when the Red and Black cindersmen contest in a dual meet with the Presbyterian college track men from Clinton, S. C.

The Presbyterians are expected to bring a strong team with them. Last year the P. C. boys came near licking the Red and Black cindersmen. The Georgia sprinters will get a chance to show their stuff tomorrow for the Presbyterian boys are bringing along a young chap who last year beat the famed Herdis McCarty, Georgia's star sprinter, in the 100-yard dash.

Georgia has lost all its sprinters of last season, and upon the young shoulders of Red Groves, who placed first in one event Saturday and placed in others, and Jimmy Stoinoff will fall the job of keeping blots off the Georgia cutescheon.

The Franklin S. Peabody memorial handicap, $10,000 added, the feature all age stake of the meeting, has drawn 111 nominations including Roguish Eye, Karl Eitel, Clyde Van Dusen, Mike Hall, Misspep, Toro, Whiskery and Windy City.

AMERICAN DERBY
Draws 169 Entries
CHICAGO, March 31.—(P)—A record entry of 169 thoroughbreds has been attracted by the American derby, blue ribbon event of the Washington Park racing season which will be decided June 14.

The entry is 19 greater than the Kentucky derby list and includes all the eligibles for the latter race and the Preaukness. Should there be 25 starters the race would gross about $66,000. Among the entries are such stars as Harry Payne Whitney's Whitehorse and Boonin; W. R. Cox's Caruso; Dedicate, owned by Fred A. Burton, and Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Saracen II.

The Franklin S. Peabody memorial handicap, $10,000 added, the feature all age stake of the meeting, has drawn 111 nominations including Roguish Eye, Karl Eitel, Clyde Van Dusen, Mike Hall, Misspep, Toro, Whiskery and Windy City.

CAPTAIN DRILLS GEORGIA NINE; REGULARS WIN

Bulldogs Under Gorman's Direction as Bill White Is Absent.

By Buck Anderson.

ATHENS, Ga., March 31.—Captain Harry Gorman, the receiving ace of the Georgia Bulldogs, this afternoon directed the activities of the Georgia team in their preparations for the two-game series with the North Carolina Tarheels here Friday and Saturday, while Coach Bill White was out of the city on business connected with the Columbus team of the Southeastern league, of which he is manager and part owner.

The Regulars flashed a better brand of ball this afternoon than they displayed in Saturday's game with the Mercer Bears, and came through in six innings to lick the Yammigans, 3 to 0. Cliff McGaughey, shortstop, reverted to his old-time hitting and smashed out a double to score two of the Regulars' runs. McGaughey scored later when Austin Downes, playing third for the Regulars, singled.

The nearest approach the Yammigans came to scoring was when Bobby Rose, heavyweight tackle on the football team last fall, leaped on a fast one and sent it bounding against the right field fence for a triple. Bennie Rothstein, who was the scoring ace of the Mercer series, was good for two singles, and Brick Davenport, star second-sacker, helped get hits off John Reid, sophomore hurler, and Porter Frye, the elongated pitcher who won a few games for the Georgia team last year.

Georgia will open its conference season with the Tarheels here Friday. The Georgians play their first out-of-town series with the Auburn Plainsmen in Auburn on April 11 and 12. A series with the Columbus Foxes is also pending for next week.

Cindermen Meet Presbyterians.
The Georgia track team, which Saturday sent the Furman Purple Hurricane home on the losing end of a 90-36 score, will come up against its first real opposition of the season here tomorrow when the Red and Black cindersmen contest in a dual meet with the Presbyterian college track men from Clinton, S. C.

The Presbyterians are expected to bring a strong team with them. Last year the P. C. boys came near licking the Red and Black cindersmen. The Georgia sprinters will get a chance to show their stuff tomorrow for the Presbyterian boys are bringing along a young chap who last year beat the famed Herdis McCarty, Georgia's star sprinter, in the 100-yard dash.

Georgia has lost all its sprinters of last season, and upon the young shoulders of Red Groves, who placed first in one event Saturday and placed in others, and Jimmy Stoinoff will fall the job of keeping blots off the Georgia cutescheon.

The Franklin S. Peabody memorial handicap, $10,000 added, the feature all age stake of the meeting, has drawn 111 nominations including Roguish Eye, Karl Eitel, Clyde Van Dusen, Mike Hall, Misspep, Toro, Whiskery and Windy City.

The SPORTLIGHT

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Beating Jones Twice.
AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31.—Not in one or two sterling golfers have upset Bobby Jones once, but the big trick to hoot the Atlanta barrister twice in a row. He has a great way of turning on his tormentor with claws of steel.

In his second Georgia test with Horton Smith, the rising young attorney led the Missouri star by 4 strokes at the end of 36 holes by staggering around the hard Hill course in a pair of 72's, while Smith needed a 75 and a 73, which happens to be great golf for an over-golfed young man who had never seen this baffling layout before.

The second shot test here to a number of upland, plateau greens will keep anybody guessing and the keen, sloping greens are heavy with trouble for any one who hasn't a perfect touch. The way Jones and Smith plied the keen blades of their putters was something for a big gallery to look at, for only a master with the putting blade could have done as well.

Smith started the second day's test in a tough spot. For one thing he is 4 strokes back of Jones and for another he has to start his Tuesday led the Missouri star by 4 strokes at the end of 36 holes by staggering around the hard Hill course in a pair of 72's, while Smith needed a 75 and a 73, which happens to be great golf for an over-golfed young man who had never seen this baffling layout before.

With the entire field, including many of the best professionals in the world, using him for a target, Bobby had to carry the usual burden of battling against the field but he was 3 strokes in front of the pack when the first day's play came to an end.

Bobby was hitting the ball extremely well with only one or two lapses, and when you make a lapse here you don't get it back. You lapse and that is about all there is to it. Johnny Farrell had a great chance to lead the field until he took an 8 on the par 4 second hole. To lose 4 strokes to par on one hole is too much of a handicap for any one to pick up when Jones is cracking the ball up to the pin.

One of the keenest entries in the gallery today was a pretty fair ball player by the name of Tyrus Raymond Cobb. He galloped around the 36 holes in just about the same fashion he traveled the bases a few years ago for Detroit.

Now and then Cobb slowed down to a trot, but at the end he was at three quarters speed, which would seem to indicate that the old legs are still hanging on.

Ty is now as keen about golf as he ever was about baseball. I played with him yesterday and found that his half swing, left handed, was frequently good for 260 yards.

Jones and Smith.
The big gallery that tramped around the Hill course at Augusta had the rare opportunity of watching two of the greatest putters golf has ever known when Bobby Jones and Horton Smith began stroking the ball for the cup. Here were two golfers with the uncanny touch that only belongs to an artist. It is something that has to be born as well as developed.

Smith, for example, had never played over the keen, rolling, sloping greens. He had drawn no chance to test out their speed or to locate the breaks and contours that baffled so many. Yet in almost every case his long approach putts, catching the keen slopes, drifted up to within a foot of the cup.

Bobby Jones has been one of the greatest of all putters for the last eight years. There is a trifle more pure wrist action to his putting than Horton Smith shows, but in each case there is a span of delicate stroking where the blade of the putter is allowed to go on through without the slightest sign of jabbing or stabbing or pushing.

From 100 yards up to the pin, Smith is one of the surest and deadliest players in the history of golf. This quiet, tall, lanky Missouri boy with the pleasant smile and the most unassuming of manners will get down in two from off the green as often as Jones or Hagen at their best. And if he doesn't, there isn't the slightest flicker of annoyance. There is no one in golf, not even barring Travers or Hagen, who can take the breaks of the game with a finer philosophy. He hits the ball and lets skill and nature take their courses in what the final destiny may be.

Different Styles.
Few golfers take the same style into battle and this is true of the two young stars from Georgia and Missouri. Both have a fine, smooth easy going way of taking the club back in the swing as if each had all day to complete this part of the stroke. At the top of the back swing their hands are in almost exactly the same position.

But from this point on there is a distinct difference. There is much more of a break or a cocking of the wrists in the Jones swing. The head of his club dips many inches lower.

Smith gives one the impression of taking only a three-quarter swing. This is because there is almost no extra wrist action at the top. The hands come high and well back but the wrists hold the club head in a plane slightly above the horizontal whereas Bobby lets the club head dip slightly below.

There is almost a trifle more ankle action, referring here to the left ankle, in Bobby's work. Smith's left heel comes up only slightly. This may account for his tendency to hook or pull now and then, especially when he is tired. Never having seen the Augusta course he was bothered at times by the baffling distances and this mental uncertainty naturally affected the firmness and sureness of his stroke.

In the morning round he finished with a 75, three strokes back of Jones, and in place of complaining he said that he was more than satisfied as he might have been a few strokes worse. Even Bobby, who had played the Hill course many times, missed connections on the range and fell well short.

The holes here are longer than they look to be and more than a few ran into this difficulty. They usually erred on the short side and the wonder is that Smith did as well tackling an unknown battle field. That is a remarkable test of golf for a course under 6,500 yards in length.

Three of Bobby's old rivals refused to be shaken off. They were Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell and Joe Turnesa, who had battled the Georgia cindersmen in more than one test. Sarazen and Farrell were both hitting the ball up to their old-time pace and Turnesa, after a bad start, carved out five 3's on the last nine to swing back into fast company.

Tommy Kerrigan, of Swanoy, set the forenoon pace with a 70 and Whiffey Cox wasn't far away with a 71. They served notice that this was to be no private war between Jones and Smith, who carried most of the gallery.

JONES SHOOTS 144 TO LEAD AUGUSTA FIELD

Horton Smith Falls Four Strokes Behind in First Round.

These professionals develop a vast unrest when the man Jones is in the field.

After lunch, with a gallery doubled in size, Bobby and Horton started off again. Jones promptly lost two strokes. On the first two holes, when an approach shot found the rough back of No. 1 and a putt ran past the cup on No. 2, Smith lost one back on the third when he trapped. The men reeled off the next three holes perfectly. Then Bobby touched off a long putt on the seventh for a birdie and was three strokes better again.

Smith tried for it manfully on the long eighth and dropped a long putt for a birdie four but Bobby matched it. They turned in 35 each.

Horton nearly skidded out of the tournament. When he lost four strokes to Bobby on the next three holes. Two traps and an unplayable lie in soft mud wrecked him. While he was fighting Bobby was carefully studying every shot, sometimes walking far in advance of his ball to study the lay of the land ahead. The Atlantian was bearing down for fair.

He picked up two strokes to par in six holes and came to the sixteenth with par for a 40 in prospect.

Then he went to sleep on the tee as before related and lost his velvet.

Babe Ruth Hits Homer, Double, Single; Yankees Win, 14 to 4

Giants Get 16 Hits In 11-to-7 Victory

Athletics Close Stay in Florida by Whipping Newark Club, 6 to 2; Phillies Lose.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 31.—(AP)—With Babe Ruth again showing the way, the New York Yankees pounded out a 14-to-4 victory over San Antonio, of the Texas league, today.

The Babe contributed a home run, a double and a single to the Yankees' 18 safeties off three pitchers. The circuit drive was the Babe's fourth of the season. A pair of walks and a sacrifice fly on his three other trips to the plate gave the home run king a perfect day at the plate.

Giants on Spree.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 31.—(P)—Sixteen hits rang off the bats of the New York Giants today to give the National leaguers a 11-to-7 victory over Shreveport, of the Texas league. Home runs were made by five Giants, Johnny Mostil, Freddie Lindstrom, Frank Hogan, Travis Jackson and Bill Terry. Andy Andrews, of the Shreveport club, also joined the home run parade.

The Texas league representatives pounded Roy Parmelee hard in the early innings but Ray Lucas kept their hits scattered.

A's Win Again.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 31.—(UN)—Bill Shores and Al Mahon, rookie collegians, pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to a 6-to-2 win over the New York International league team here today. Shores allowed two runs

LOOKOUTS BUY ROY, EX-BARON, FROM DODGERS

Cat Milner Given Release — Barons Keep Eyes on Rookies.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 31.—(P)—Joe Engel today announced the purchase of Lute Roy, right-hander, with Birmingham in 1928, from the Brooklyn club. Purchase of Roy is one of the first moves in an effort to bolster the Lookouts' pitching staff.

A deal for another well-known hurler is hanging fire.

Barons Watchful.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 31.—(P)—With half a dozen rookies still being given a chance to demonstrate their ability to out veterans of last year's championship outfit, the Birmingham Barons return here tomorrow to face the St. Louis American team in the first of a two-game series.

The Barons annexed a 11-to-0 decision over the University of Alabama today, with Taylor, shortstop, who is taking the place of Ernie Smith, collecting a single, double, triple and home run in five times at bat.

Cards Shut Out.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 31.—(UN)—The St. Louis Cardinals today demonstrated the lack of batting punch which has been worrying their civic rivals, the Browns, and were shut out, 3 to 0, by the Rochester International league club in an exhibition game.

Brave Hurlers Bested.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 31.—(UN)—Ben Cantwell and Percy Lee Jones were bested in a pitching duel with a pair of minor league twirlers and the Boston Braves dropped today's exhibition game to Jacksonville by a 1-to-0 score.

The Braves made only five hits off Douglas and McKinney while Cantwell and Jones were nipped for six. The winning run was made off Cantwell in the fifth.

Tiger Rally Wins.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 31.—(UN)—A two-run rally in the ninth inning gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-to-3 victory over the Montreal International league team here today.

The Canadians were held to four hits but bunched their blows with errors to score three runs off Horeck in the fourth and held the lead until the last inning.

Veteran Ready.

SEALMA, Ala., March 31.—(UN)—Milton Gaston, Boston Red Sox veteran, demonstrated that he was ready for the start of the major league season when he shut out the Selma Southeastern league team, 5 to 0, in an exhibition game here today.

The minor leaguers made only three hits. Gaston's line-up: 1. Gaston, 2. Berry, 3. Brewer, 4. Lowe and 5. Roland.

Grimes Issued Buc Ultimatum

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—(UN)—Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, Grimes, is holding out for a contract calling for $22,000 a year or a two-year contract at $20,000 annually. The club's offer to Grimes has not been made public but is reported to have called for $18,000, the same as he received last season.

JACK TOWNSEND IN 140TH FIGHT

Negro Heavyweight Meets Bob Lawson on Roby Card Wednesday.

When Jack Townsend faces Fighting Bob Lawson on Roby's card at the auditorium tomorrow night, he will be in his 140th fight and has gone against practically all of the really great ones. Townsend has whipped George Godfrey twice, once by a decision, and the other by a K. O. in the first round.

Townsend is rated one of the cleanest fighters of all time. In all of his fights he has never committed a foul or never been disqualified for any reason. Few heavies can boast that record.

F. N. Clark, of Cleveland, Ohio, who looks after the interests of Townsend, has arrived in the city from Florida points where he has been matching his big protegee for a bout or two.

Clark has been a close student of the cauliflower business for 32 years and has kept one or more notable fighters under his wing.

Besides the Townsend-Lawson bout, Roby is offering a total of 42 rounds of boxing. He is bringing several well-known colored fighters to Atlanta for this card and believes that it will be the best he has ever offered Atlanta.

Mobile Loses.

MOBILE, Ala., March 31.—(UN)—The Boston Red Sox second team defeated Mobile, 5 to 3, in an exhibition game here today.

Two Vols Released.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 31.—(P)—Release by the Nashville baseball club of Cy Perkins, a right-handed pitcher, and Jim Bryan, an outfielder, to Springfield, Ill., was announced today by Manager Clarence Rowland, making five players sent to that club so far. The others are Mack Pickett, first baseman; Art Branch, scout-pro, shortstop; and Frank Pearce, right-handed pitcher.

Peaches Win.

MACON, Ga., March 31.—(P)—The Macon Peaches of the Sally league opened their exhibition schedule here today by taking the Columbus Foxes of the Southeastern league in tow, 6 to 4.

The Peaches lopped on the offerings of Day, Fox hurler, in the first inning, to score three runs, and it was their game from then on. The Maconites collected nine hits, three of them for extra bases, while Columbus got eight, one of which was a three-bagger.

Columbus: 000 000 100—4 8 2
Macon: 210 000 000—6 9 9
Batteries: Day, Fox; Peaches, Gilmer and Westmoreland; Holbrook, Krider, Richardson and Richards, 1 day.

REDS STRONGER WITH 2 STARS FROM AMERICAN

Meusel and Heilmann Bolster Attack; Pirates Make One Change.

Two veteran American league outfielders are expected to make their National league debut in the lineup of the Cincinnati Reds in the opening game at home against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In an effort to strengthen the Reds' attack Don Howley, former St. Louis Browns' manager, has acquired Bob Meusel, 10 years with the Yankees, and Harry Heilmann, 14 years with Detroit, and American league batting champion in 1921, 1923, 1925 and 1927.

Heilmann has been bothered by a lame arm this spring but will start the season in right field unless his injury is aggravated. Meusel will play left field, with Ethan Allen in center.

Only one change has been made in Pittsburgh's lineup. Gus Suhr, who batted .381 for the San Francisco Pacific Coast league club, is the Pirates' new first baseman.

The Traylor, Pirates' third baseman, is suffering from an eye ailment and Lloyd Waner has not fully recovered from an appendix operation last January. If this pair are not in physical condition by April 15, Stuart Clarke, reserve infielder last year, will play third, and Freddy Brickell, reserved outfielder last year, will take E. Waner's place in the outfield.

Either Ray Kremer or Ervin Brame will pitch the opening game. The other pitchers include Henry Meine, Steve Swetonic, Jess Petty and Larry French.

Fight Fans of Today Good Shock Absorber

Crowds Accept Anything, Howl for Awhile and Then Return for More of the Same.

By Frank Getty, United News Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, March 31.—When the London naval conference is over and the United States navy starts experimenting with new species of armor plate, it might do worse than to see if some practical use cannot be made of the tough skins of the country's boxing customers.

Certainly one of the wonders of the sports world is the shock absorbing ability of the average fight fan. The worse the fight, the wilder the decision, the sooner it seems, does the credulous cash customer clamor for more.

Within the past few weeks, some of the most outlandish decisions have been handed down by officials, yet the fight game never was more prosperous. Johnny Risko whipped Vittorio Campolo at Miami but didn't get the duke, as the boys say. Kid McFarland, the referee, admitting casually that his arithmetic was at fault.

"I never was quick at addition," admitted the kid, as he ducked for the nearest exit, and now the fans are merely laughing over the incident, for Campolo was robbed of a decision over Risko in New York a couple of weeks later. That, apparently, makes everything all right, the case-hardened fans now are looking forward to shelling out for a third meeting between John and Vittorio.

The Scott-Sharkey fight itself should have been enough to bar both participants from first class company from then on, but at the moment all the talk is of Sharkey's next fight, against Max Schmeling on June 12.

Following the McLarnin-Thompson welterweight fight at Madison Square Garden last week, the sports editor of a local newspaper came out flatly

SMITHIES OPEN SEASON TODAY AGAINST B. H. S.

Four Games on Schedule in Prep Baseball League This Afternoon.

Today's Games

G. M. A. at Russell. Marist at Commercial. University at Decatur. Boys' High at Tech High. Fulton vs. Bye.

Tech High school will open its 1930 prep baseball schedule at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Piedmont park, with Boys' High, its ancient rival, as its opponent. Boys' High, due to a victory over University last Friday afternoon, has an edge over the Smithies, who have not played a game this season.

It will be another of those "grudge" affairs, even though Coach Tolbert's Tech High team has had very little practice. The Smithies have not played as much as nine innings of a practice game this season, while Boys' High has played several practice affairs.

Marist, leading the league with two victories and no defeats, meets Commercial at Kirkwood park this afternoon. The Beaneers should add another game to their win column, for both Holt, a veteran right-hander, and Kunsberg, a southpaw, are ready to hurl.

University and Decatur should put up a good game on the Decatur diamond; while G. M. A., unable to play last week due to bad weather, faces Russell High at East Point.

TWO-TROUSER SUITS

$35

COMING right at the beginning of the spring season, here, indeed, is a most opportune event. It offers you not only the authentic styles of the season, but unusually good woollens, the smarter patterns and colors—all at a price which doesn't even hint at the true value.

FIVE-DAY LIMIT

For a space of five days any owner in the Southern league who wishes to may claim any man on the Cracker list for the sum of $2,000, that being the waiver price.

The Crackers do not expect any of them to be claimed. Two thousand dollars is a very stiff price and there he not many who are willing to pay that much on the line for someone someone else doesn't want.

The theory is that none of them will be claimed. Those who are not claimed will be placed with various clubs. The younger recruits are figured for Cedartown in the Georgia state league, while Columbus is to get the more experienced players.

It will be noticed that some of the players in the list above have no probable destination after their names. This is because the Crackers hope to be able to dispose of them in some other fashion.

LONG HAS CHANCE

For instance, Jimmy Long is still in the running for a catching job. He looks very good. He has a lot of assurance and all that sort of thing. Johnny Dobbs would like to carry two class A catchers of experience and with plenty of wrinkles in the old gray matter, the theory being that the more the wrinkles the more the brains. Now Mr. Ivy Wings, while there have been few occasions which called for baseball brains, is generally credited with having seeds of them. And another catcher with whom could be used. This does not mean that a Class B does not have brains but the general idea is that the A boys have more.

Long has a chance. The man who will win the position must be a hitter. If Johnny Dobbs can't get one out of those on hand he is quite likely to call in another.

THE BIG BATTLE

The first base battle goes on apace, as the boys say. Dick Burrows, who is hitting well, and Cy Griffith, the ex-association player, are battling for the place. Griffith is throwing better since he returned from the Douglas Camp. He is letting his arm come along slowly. The wing worried him last season, but he believes it will develop into full strength.

The Crackers looked very good in their exhibition game. Jimmy Johnston, scoring from first on a double that wasn't so far out, ran so fast he dumfounded the fans who were on hand. There is life in the old pins yet. Jimmy Johnston isn't old. He can still run, hit and throw. And the fact is there isn't a man in the circuit who can equal him on the paths.

College Pug Held For Foe's Death

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—(UN)—William Struble, of the Penn State college boxing team, was released in $1,500 bail late today pending a coroner's inquest into the death of Oliver Horne, captain of the University of Pennsylvania boxing team. Horne died Saturday night after a boxing match with Struble. Struble was taken before a magistrate body and charged technically with involuntary manslaughter.

You can earn a beautiful $3,120 Pierce-Arrow Sedan and $1,000 in gold—total value $4,120—in your spare time during the next few weeks by entering The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 prize campaign.

The Pierce-Arrow Sedan and $1,000 in gold will be a gift to you—a reward for your efforts in getting your friends and acquaintances to read The Constitution regularly.

The campaign is just getting started and ends May 31. There are many prizes. Even though you do not win the Pierce-Arrow Sedan and $1,000 in gold, there are still 17 other fine new automobiles and gold to be awarded. Besides the automobiles, there are 20 Atwater Kent Radios and cash commissions for all active non-prize winners. You're BOUND to get something valuable.

Credits are all you need to win and these credits are given you for securing renewal and new subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. You may get these subscriptions anywhere and from anyone and two plans are offered you for obtaining them.

You can take subscriptions by contract, whereby the New subscriber signs to take The Constitution for a period of 6 months or 12 months and they pay the carrier each week for the paper. You do not collect any money whatever for these subscriptions.

Or you can take prepaid subscriptions from both Old and New subscribers and they pay in advance.

The Atlanta Constitution's plan of taking ONLY contracts on New subscriptions and paid-in-advance on both Old and New makes it fair for all candidates as it precludes any possible chance of an agent or carrier to turn over to a candidate hundreds of Old subscribers' contracts which would be very unfair to those working for their subscriptions. The subscriptions are verified—bona fide—and the workers receive the rewards.

And now is the best possible time to enter—there never will be a better time to enter the campaign and get credits. New subscriptions secured now bring extra credits and you also have the opportunity of winning a part of $500 in Extra Gold.

100,000 - 50,000
Extra Credits

Good Until 9 p. m., April 19

Here are the GREATEST extra credit offers of the entire campaign: For every $30 club or combination of New prepaid subscriptions turned in up to 9 p. m., April 19, a bonus of 100,000 extra credits will be given. For every $30 club or combination of New contract subscriptions turned in a bonus of 50,000 extra credits will be given. A pro rata share of extra credits will be given for any amount over a club. These extra credits are given in addition to the regular credits allowed on each subscription as shown in the regular credit schedule.

EIGHTEENTH INSTALLMENT.

"Call Zone Officer 2 A," the commanding voice directed, "and connect the officer directly with me. Relieve H. Q. patrol of his duties at Madame Czerna's apartment and instruct him to report back at once. Recall patrol who covered Zone Officer 2 A. Instruct Sector captain in charge outside the Page Sutton home to operate from the second tree mentioned in his report, but to await direct orders. Dispatch three firing groups from Division B to cover lines of approach to the house. Instruct Divisional Chief B to clear the Zones against the event of withdrawal. Detail the patrol relieved of duty in Madame Czerna's apartment to S. Radio. He is to stand by until further orders. Have the two-sater in readiness at Exit Seven. Move."

The red light went out. . . . "The position is this," said Drake Roscoe. "We know that some super criminal has got the City Zones mapped out in Zones. We don't know what these Zones are and we don't know their centre. We don't know if the New York Zones impinge on others and so on, covering the whole of the United States."

"I say seriously," Roscoe assured him, "that the efficiency of the Zones, which I have experienced, reasonably suggests such a development. Let's hope I'm wrong. At the moment we are concerned with New York City."

"But we're not in New York City," Stoppedford interjected. "I agree," said Roscoe quietly. "But not knowing how far the City Zones extend, we may quite possibly, even here, be in an outside City Zone."

"You're right!" cried Page Sutton. "The map proves it."

"One moment," Roscoe stood up. Ned Regan crossed to the study door and threw it open. The corridor outside was empty.

"Leave it that way," said Roscoe. "You're sure," turning to the host. "We can't be overheard here?"

"Not with the windows shut," "Good!" Roscoe nodded. "As for your household: Your guest, Dr. Cross? You have chatted with him, Stoppedford?"

"I certainly have," Stoppedford replied. "He's sound enough. I mean he knows medicine in the Harvard sense. I'm not suggesting for a moment—he removed his monocle and examined it carefully—"I'm not suggesting for one moment that he'd ever have qualified at Oxford!"

Ned Regan chuckled loudly. "Good for Oxford!" said his host. "But the point is, you have no doubts whatever of Cross. They'd be ridiculous, of course, anyway."

"Not a spot of doubt," Stoppedford returned. "He's a practising savant, take my word for it. He's extraordinarily sound on tropical medicine."

"Good!" said Roscoe crisply. "We now come to Christopoulos, your butler, Mr. Sutton."

"Yes," said Sutton; "what's wrong with him?"

"Well—" Roscoe paused. A shadow was thrown into the room. There came a rap upon the opened door, and Christopoulos entered. His pale, immobile features were expressionless, as:

"Excuse me, sir," he said. "But when you are free, Madame Czerna would like a word with you."

"Oh?" Page Sutton replied. "I'm very busy at the moment, Christopoulos. Is there anything I can do for her in the meantime?"

"Possibly, sir. The lady is very shaken, as you know, and as she understands that dogs roam the lawns all night, she has asked Mrs. Dean if it would be possible for her to exchange rooms with Commander Roscoe, who sleeps at the rear of the house. She sends her apologies."

"Delighted," Roscoe burst in. "No trouble, is it, Sutton?"

"None whatever. Tell Mrs. Dean to arrange it, Christopoulos."

Christopoulos bowed, and went out, closing the door.

"Open that door again, Regan," Roscoe directed. Regan nodded, crossed, and opened the door, glancing into the corridor. He returned to his chair.

"Our new guest," Roscoe went on. "Madame Czerna, is known to myself, to Miss O'Hay and also to my friend, Dr. Stoppedford. That so, Stoppedford?"

"Yes," Stoppedford returned, with obvious embarrassment. "I know her, of course."

"So do I," Roscoe murmured. "She's a pretty woman and a charming woman. But why is she here tonight?"

"Her car crashed. She was too shaken to proceed to her destination. Your question is famous in a high degree."

"Do you think so?" Roscoe returned. "No, I don't," Stoppedford admitted, and, standing up, began to pace about the room. "But the whole thing is astoundingly difficult."

"See here," said Page Sutton. "I'm a party whose life is threatened; let me in on this. My daughter's friend, Molly O'Hay, happens to know this lady who has been thrown on our hospitality tonight. I understand that Dr. Stoppedford knows her also. But, in the circumstances, if there's anything queer about her, bring me up level with what you know. This isn't the time for silence."

"I agree," said Roscoe quietly. "I think my friend agrees, too."

"I've got no choice," Stoppedford declared. "Madame Czerna, whom I have known a long time, has acquired, in some way, certain information respecting this one gang. I don't believe for a moment that she's crooked, but I admit that I think she knows something."

"Brave lad!" murmured Roscoe. "It's a great thing to be born a sportsman. We have then, two queries, Mr. Sutton. He turned to their host. "Your butler, whom, frankly, I distrust, and your new guest, Madame Czerna."

Thereupon: "I've got something to say," growled Ned Regan. "Maybe I should have said it sooner, but I'll say it now. 'Let's have it,' said Page Sutton. 'Good enough,' Regan returned. 'Ring for Christopoulos.'

A rather awkward silence, created by the detective's truculent manner, was ended by the entrance of the butler.

"You wanted me, sir?" "Shut the door!" Ned Regan ordered. Christopoulos closed the door.

"You know Commander Drake Roscoe," Regan went on. "This is Dr. Stoppedford. And now, gentlemen, I want you to meet one of the best men in my bureau—Robert Bach! I planted him here as your butler, Sutton, when you first gave me the case."

He turned to Drake Roscoe who, dumfounded, was watching Christopoulos.

"Your suspicions were natural," he admitted. "Only a clever man would have noticed the things you have noticed, Commander. But this is the explanation! Anything new to report, Bach?"

"Several things, Mr. Regan," Bach replied. "But not the one I know you're waiting for. In the first place, there's up to a dozen men covering the house."

"Good heavens!" Page Sutton exclaimed, and started up from his seat. "In the second place," Bach went on, "at least two of the gang are inside! One of the staff is a spy, but hang me if I can place him! Third point, someone tried again to get at the dogs tonight."

There came an interruption, a sound of light running footsteps, and Molly O'Hay burst unceremoniously into the room.

"Oh, Mr. Sutton!" she cried. "I looked out of June's window a moment ago, and I saw someone race across the lawn to the shrubbery and disappear! I thought you ought to know!"

Page Sutton turned excitedly to Bach. "Are the gates locked?" he demanded.

"Yes, sir," was the reply in the manner again of a well-trained butler.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Cotton was higher today on a renewal of trade buying or covering by near months shorts while commission houses buying in later deliveries was supposed to include considerable transferring of scattering long contracts from May and July to the new crop positions. Prices made new high ground for the movement with May selling up to 16.25 or 37 points net higher and 22 points above the low level touched early this month. May closed at 16.25 with a general advance of 18 to 35 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 5 to 13 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and favorable weekly reviews of the domestic goods situation. The advance to 16.00 for July and 15.45 for the new October contract, which was attracted considerable realizing in both the old and new crop positions. This was absorbed on very moderate reactions, however, and the market soon formed up on the continuation of the covering movement in the old crop positions, while scattering long accounts in May and July were apparently being transferred to the new crop in some cases. This helped supply the demand for near months and furnished some support for the latter deliveries.

The highest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when July sold at 16.27 and the new October at 15.54 making net advances of 19 to 20 points on the general list. May was apparently 73 points over the new October compared with a difference of 60 points at the close on Saturday.

There may have been some buying of new crop months on reports that the weather in the south was too cool for planting or that there was a renewal of the demand for March farm work. Reports from the domestic goods market indicated that there had been some slackening in the last week, but that sales for March were thought to have exceeded actual production.

Liverpool cables said there had been considerable cotton buying there with contracts scarce, and reported moderate sales of cloth to Egypt and the near east with a broadening demand for yarn.

Port receipts today 16,299. United States port receipts 1,849,130. Exports today 24,318, making 5,922,225 so far this season.

SPOTS ADVANCE AT NEW ORLEANS.
 NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—Cotton developed quite active trading today and prices advanced. Cables were better than on Saturday and there was a renewal of the demand for old crop months by the same interests that have been buying them sometime. There was also a fair demand for new crop positions due to the unreasonable cold weather and to a private estimate of six per cent decrease in acreage.

After opening four to eight points up, prices continued to advance until they showed gains of 31 points on new crop months and 23 points on old crop months. A slight reaction in the late trading was followed by a recovery on active buying and a scarcity of contracts and old months made new highs 38 to 39 points above Saturday's close, closing practically at the top. May advanced to 15.91 and closed at 15.90, or 38 points net higher.

The general market closed steady at net gains of 15 to 25 points. Liverpool came in 1 to 5 points better than day and first trades here showed gains of 4 to 8 points. Prices after slight hesitation, started to advance on good trade buying and prices rising until around noon. May traded at 15.51 and July to 15.58, or 31 points above Saturday's close. October traded at 15.54, or 22 points up.

Loss of Two Rings Reported to Police

While walking along Ponce de Leon avenue late Monday afternoon Miss Virginia Goodwin, of 963 Ponce de Leon, dropped from her hands two diamond rings valued at $400, she notified police.

An apparently clever entrance to the Firestone Service Station's office at 277 Spring street, and an equally clever manipulation of the safe, resulted in the loss of $150 cash late Monday night, police were informed.

Fountain pens worth between $400 and $500 were taken from the store of the New-Thomas Equipment Company, 71 Walton street, some time Sunday night, police were notified Monday. The door had been jammed and blood stains on the glass led police to believe unprotected knuckles had been used in breaking the glass door top.

Jewelry Valued At $5,500 Stolen

While Mrs. L. M. Carnahan, of 2219 Peachtree road, was away visiting friends Monday night robbers entered her apartment and stole jewelry valued at $5,500, she told the police in reporting the theft to the police shortly before midnight.

Included in the jewelry stolen from Mrs. Carnahan was a diamond bracelet set with 20 half-carat stones valued at $3,500, and a diamond platinum watch worth $1,200. Several other pieces of jewelry taken were worth approximately $800, but the robbers left antique jewelry upon which Mrs. Carnahan placed a value of $700.

Entrance to her apartment was effected by picking the front door lock, according to police reports.

LACK OF JURY DELAYS ALLEGED BANDIT TRIAL

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., March 31.—(AP)—Trial of Ben Orville, accused of slaying J. Robert Kirby, banker, was continued until tomorrow, when attempt to obtain a jury from a venire of 70 Warren counties All prospective jurors examined said that they had already reached a decision as to the culpability of the defendant. Kirby was slain last December when he attempted to halt three bandits who had robbed the bank of Smith's Grove. He was president of the bank of Oakland. The sheriff was ordered to summon a special venire of 100 from Simpson county for tomorrow. Elmer Grayson was convicted of the murder of the banker and sentenced to life imprisonment. The commonwealth is seeking the death penalty for Orville, as it did in the Grayson case. An alleged third member of the trio that robbed the bank, Richard McNice, died recently in Chicago. All three lived in Indianapolis.

Alert Operator Aids In Thwarting Theft

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—Quick response to a strange sound recognized as a possible danger signal has won a merit mark for "noteworthy public service" for Mrs. Vera C. MacMillan, night chief operator of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company at Winchester, Va.

Through the operator's alertness police were able to forestall a robbery. The thief attempted to escape and was killed by a policeman. A number of burglaries during two years preceding were traced to the same burglar.

Mrs. MacMillan heard sounds indicating that a hammer was pounding steel when she attempted to answer a call one night last January. She notified police headquarters, explaining the sound was in the office of a Winchester crematory. The police listened in on the line, hurried to the office and found the burglar attempting to open the safe. The company announced today it had awarded the operator a Vail medal, symbolic of "most conspicuous examples" of noteworthy service.

Adjutant-General Loses Automobile

Working overtime Monday caused Adjutant General Homer Parker to lose his automobile.

The general had closed his office for the day and had started home when he recalled an official omission. Returning to the Capitol, he left his car parked on the Mitchell street side while he went in the building to complete his day's work. He was back within five minutes but the car was gone.
